United Front In Council Against Gas Rate Boost

Mayor Stands Behind Solons, Warns He Will Veto Any Measure Calling For Boost In Rates; Poll Shows City Fathers 'Not Interested' In Company's Offer.

City council today presented a united front against the Ohio Fuel Gas company's proposal for an increase in Mansfield rates.

And standing firm behind council was Mayor Claude M. Hunter, low rate champion of three years ago, who sounded a flat warning that he would veto any measure containing rates higher than those now being paid.

The reaction by council members to the proposal presented by the gas company yesterday, calling for a 74-cent per thousand rate for the 5,000-foot consumer, showed eight councilmen lined up against any increase in rates. The other member, James E. Crum, councilman-at-large, was out of the city on business and could not be reached for a statement.

A poll of councilmen, made today by The News-Journal, showed "no interest" in the gas company's offer and such statements as "the gas company's proposal is out of reason," and "I'm not interested in any contract calling for higher rates," and "I'm definitely opposed to any higher rate."

Every councilman reached backed Russell D. Porch, chairman of council's utilities committee, in his stand for a lower rate for Mansfield

3 Oppose Present Rate.

Three councilmen stated flatly that they were opposed to the renewal of the present contract calling for a rate of 65 cents per thousand to the 5,000-foot user. They joined the utilities committee in advocating a lower rate as was proposed to the gas company several days ago. They were Fifth Ward Councilman Fred Miller, Councilman-at-large George Berg and Third Ward Councilman George Kyle.

Two other members who indicated that they would oppose any higher rate than was now being paid were Second Ward Councilman C. N. Shultz and Councilman-at-large H. M. Emmons.

Three councilmen, C. N. Shultz, Berg and Miller, members of council three years ago when the present contract was entered into, were united in their opposition against any increase over the present rate. Miller and Berg indicated that they favored a lower rate, while Shultz advocated the renewal of the present contract.

The proposal offered by the gas company, through W. C. Mead, district manager, calls for an increase of nine cents per thousand feet to the 5,000-foot consumer, or

Rain or Shine, Mansfield Day's On Tap Tomorrow

Rain or shine, Mansfield merchants are planning a big day of values tomorrow for the annual Mansfield day.

Forty-seven stores participating announced that the special values would cover not only spring merchandise but early summer items. Only stores displaying the green banners are taking part in the annual shopping day event. They are listed in a special advertising section of today's issue of The News-Journal.

Free rides to the downtown section will be given shoppers on the buses tomorrow from 9 to 11:15 a. m. through the courtesy of the Mansfield Rapid Transit company. Out-of-town cars will be given unlimited parking if they are identified by the coupon in today's News-Journal.

LAUNCHES TAX EVASION PROBE

Treasury Begins Nation-wide Inquiry in Payments on Small Incomes.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—A nation-wide investigation of tax evasion and avoidance on the part of individuals in the small income brackets has been initiated by the treasury.

This was disclosed today coincident with an announcement by Internal Revenue Commissioner Guy T. Helvering that treasury agents have been ordered to speed audits of 1936 and 1937 income tax returns.

In former years, inspection of tax returns filed by persons with incomes of $5,000 or less has been perfunctory. Treasury accountants have devoted most of their attention to the returns submitted by individuals coming within the higher brackets.

Under a new auditing program, treasury agents will be authorized to summon to internal revenue bureau regional headquarters throughout the country all indi-

MULTIPLE BIRTH

Seven Babies Born Dead to Farmwife in Cuba.

CAUTO EMBARCADERO, Cuba —(U.P.)—Seven dead babies were born to Mrs. Rafaela Casanova Corrias on a lonely farm 10 miles from here Sunday and are buried in a simple grave which Juan Corrias, the father dug in the front yard before the thatched farm house.

A midwife, Candelaria Arauz, attended the 34-year-old mother in her 10-hour ordeal as eight living children of the family, the youngest a boy of eight months, played or slept about the house.

News of the birth became known when the father went to Bayamo, 16 miles away, yesterday to get a doctor because his wife was ill.

With the speed that attends rumor, the story spread from end to end of Cuba and it was earlier reported persistently that the babies were alive.

DIES IN SENATOR'S OFFICE

WASHINGTON — (INS) — William V. Howard of Charleston, S. C., retired internal revenue bureau employe, died suddenly in the office of Senator Byrnes (D) of that state, today. Death was attributed to heart trouble.

'LAUGHED' AT PROBERS

(By Associated Press)

WALLA WALLA, Wash.—A 73-year-old mother accused her son of four unsolved mystery murders, prison officials said today, as they arranged to bring the pair together for the first time in ten years.

By a ruse, Deputy Prosecutor John Schermer of King county said, investigators extracted from Mrs. Mary Eleanor Smith a gruesome tale of how her son, Earl DeCasto Mayer, hammered to death James Eugene Bassett in Seattle ten years ago, dismembered his body and hid it in scattered, secluded spots.

Thought Him Minister.

Unexpectedly, Schermer said, Mrs. Smith wrote State Patrolman Joe McCauley, who duped her by posing as a clergyman, that Mayer previously killed two other men and a woman in Montana and Idaho.

The letters named the victims as Mrs. Ernest La Casse of Butte, Mont., who vanished in 1923; Ole Larson of Anaconda, Mont., who disappeared in 1921, and a man named Randall whose body was buried in a stone quarry in Idaho.

Both Mrs. Smith and her son are in prison here, where they were sent for grand larceny after the state was unable to prosecute them for Bassett's murder, one of the most baffling in Washington state's criminal history because they could not find the body.

They were convicted of stealing Bassett's automobile The mother was sentenced to five to eight years in prison and was to have been released Monday. The son was sentenced to life imprisonment as a habitual criminal.

Admits Writing Confessions.

She displayed pride in outwitting law enforcement officers, whom she termed "smart alecs."

"They made perfect fools of themselves," she wrote. "No wonder Earl and I sat back in the old county jail in Seattle and laughed."

HEAT WAVE TO END TONIGHT

Cool Winds From West Due to Halt 5-Day Torrid Spell Tonight.

A five-day heat wave in the Richland county area is due to end tonight with the arrival of cooler weather from the west, the weather bureau predicted, but county farmers today apparently had been deprived again of much-needed rain.

Despite repeated predictions of rain and threatening skies, showers have missed Richland county, and farmers said their fields and gardens needed moisture to give them a start in the new growing season.

The weather will be fair and cooler tonight and Friday, according to the forecast.

Does Fund Provide Relief? No! But Something as Vital

Money Raised In Annual Campaign Opening Monday Makes Possible Service of 10 Welfare Agencies.

EDITOR'S NOTE—Helen Allyn of the Cleveland Press is taking the place of Jane Williams on The News-Journal staff for a week, while the latter "bats" for Miss Allyn on the Press staff.

By HELEN ALLYN

What would you say if someone asked you, "What does the Community Fund do?"

Could you give them a direct answer, or would you (like a few people we asked today) stand on one foot and then the other and wind up saying, "Well . . . I should know. It has something to do with the Boy Scouts or the Y. M. C. A. or some of those places, but I don't know just what."

You will be asked to give money to the fund during the campaign next week. Do you have the idea that your contribution will be turned over in cash to needy people?

Goal Is $53,950.

If so, guess again. The money collected during the drive—the goal is $53,950—wouldn't meet the city's relief needs. That's taken care of by the City Relief office.

As Miss Margaret West, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., explains, your money will be used for something more intangible than food and shelter, but just as necessary to the community if the city is to keep from going down the moral toboggan slide.

What your contributions to the fund make possible is SERVICE. The money is divided among 10 agencies who use the money for everything from paying electric light bills at a community center

OPENS INQUIRY

France Probes Fire Which Ruined Liner Lafayette.

LE HAVRE, France — (AP) — Minister of Merchant Marine Louis De Chappedelaine ordered an immediate inquiry into a fire which today ruined the 9-year-old French liner Lafayette in drydock here.

One version of the origin of the blaze was that a blow torch being used by an engineer in the hold ignited tanks of oil.

(A report from London said it was understood the 25,178-ton liner was covered by insurance totalling between — $4,000,000 to $5,000,000.)

De Chappadelaine also announced he would take disciplinary measures against striking members of the crew of the Champlain, another liner of the fleet operated by Companie Generale Transatlantique.

ISSUES CALL

Davey Formally Summons Ohio Assembly for May 16.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey issued his formal call today for a special session of the Ohio general assembly May 16 to enact stop-gap relief legislation for the remainder of 1938.

The governor said that a number of communities were without relief funds or soon would exhaust them, and that additional appropriations were needed to prevent suffering.

NEEDY GET AID IN CLEVELAND

But $50,000 Fund Won't Last Long, Relieters Hear.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Speedy exhaustion of a $50,000 emergency relief fund fund voted by city council was seen today as relief workers, acting without pay, started aiding those in the greatest need.

Few disturbances in relief offices were reported, although some groups had threatened sitdowns in the offices until their demands were met.

The newly formed citizens' committee was to meet this afternoon in an effort to find ways and means of securing the $650,000 necessary to provide for the city's 75,000 relief cases until June 1.

Druggist Dies of Wounds Received From Youthful Robber.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Oscar J. Mueller, 68, veteran druggist, died today of gunshot wounds inflicted by a youthful robber in his store.

Police are holding two teen-age youths, who, Detective Chief Emett D. Kirgan said, were identified by Mueller as his assailants.

STATE COURT 'SECONDS' BAN ON TAX REFUND

RULING HERE FIRST IN OHIO

Law Provided Return of Old Penalties, Interest Paid on Delinquent Taxes.

The Ohio Supreme court today had ruled unconstitutional the Ogrin tax penalty refund act which had been outlawed in Richland county since early last fall.

The act provided for the refunding of penalties and interest paid on delinquent taxes in a six and one-half year period beginning June 20, 1930 and would have cost Richland county approximately $1,000 had it been enforced here, County Auditor Norman C. Wolfe estimated.

Granted Injunction Here.

Judge C. H. Huston in common pleas court last fall granted an injunction against the refunding in the county after Atty. H. M. Rust, Mansfield, had filed an action charging that the law was unconstitutional. Rust filed his suit as a taxpayer.

The Richland county ruling against the law was believed the first in the state, although several suits were filed to stop the refundings in the northern half of the state.

Although no figures were available on the amount the law would have cost Ohio counties, it was estimated that refunds would total several million dollars. A number of counties already have made refunds, but only one payment had been made in Richland county when the injunction was granted.

The refund, for a small amount, has been returned to the county. in a Cuyahoga county suit filed by Rules On Cuyahoga Appeal.

The Supreme court's action against the law followed an appeal in a Cuyaroga county suit filed by W. A. Crotty, Cleveland, as a taxpayer.

The law had been ruled invalid in Cuyahoga county common pleas court, but the district court of appeals reversed the decision. The supreme court upheld the common pleas ruling and reversed the appellate court.

In handing down its decision, the high court said: "This statute is patently repugnant to the equal protection clauses of the constitution of Ohio and the United States."

TABER WAITS

Grange Leaders to Announce Views on Governor Soon.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Republican leaders awaited anxiously today the decision of Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, as to whether he will seek the G.O.P. nomination for governor in opposition to John W. Bricker—a decision Taber says he will make within three days.

Returning to the capital from a trip throughout the state, Taber declared "There are many things which make my decision very difficult," and added:

"It is a matter of conscience—of whether I can do more for the farmers in the nation, or the farmers in the state."

MOURNS DEATH OF C. F. MICHAEL

Bucyrus Pays Tribute to Head of Ohio Manufacturers; Funeral Saturday.

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus today mourned the death of Charles F. Michael, 63, widely-known Bucyrus manufacturer and philanthropist and president of the Ohio Manufacturers' association.

Ailing for more than a year, Mr. Michael died at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday at his home on Marion road, where he had been confined for several weeks.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 p. m. Saturday with Rev. Gerard Patterson of Cleveland, arch deacon of the Episcopal diocese, officiating. Burial will be in the Oakwood cemetery. Mr. Michael was a member of the St. James Episcopal church.

Coming here from Cleveland in 1909, Mr. Michael organized the Ohio Locomotive Crane company of which he was president at the time of his death. The company is one of the city's leading industrial concerns.

Several years ago he organized the Sozonian Vault company of which his son, Walter J. Michael, is president.

In 1932 Mr. Michael was elected president of the Ohio Manufacturers' association, an office he held

PROBE GANG IN POLICY RACKET

Cleveland Investigators See Link With Mayfield Road Mob.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Connection of the notorious Mayfield road gang, prominent in the corn sugar wars of the prohibition era, with the policy racket, has been under investigation two years, Safety Director Eliot Ness said today.

Ness indicated it would be some time, several weeks at least, before the results of the investigation are presented to the grand jury. County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan said Ness had not yet conferred with him with reference to grand jury presentation.

1,000 TRUMPETS BLARE

Huge Throngs Jam Naples as Chancellor Passes on Flag-Decked Streets.

(By International News Service)

NAPLES, Italy — Under brilliant sunshine, Chancellor Adolf Hitler obtained a first-hand view today of the power of Fascist Italy at sea.

Putting on a show costing many millions of dollars, the Italian battle fleet sailed out into the waters of blue Tyrrhenian sea to engage in a gigantic sham battle for the edification of the visitor from Berlin.

Hitler and King-Emperor Victor Emmanuel arrived here by train and drove from the railway station to the quay in an open automobile through the transformed Naples that was virtually a sea of flags.

Throngs Sound Greeting.

Airplanes roared overhead as excited Neapolitans, held in check by thousands of Black Shirts, poured into the streets to see and acclaim Hitler and their own king-emperor.

So great was this mass of humanity that the procession to the water-front was slowed to a walking pace.

Naples outdid itself to impress and welcome Hitler.

One thousand trumpeteers stood atop a monumental swastika-shaped stand, thundered a fanfare and rendered the German national anthem as Hitler left the railway station.

During the ride to the quay, Hitler several times stood up in the automobile, caught in admiration of the spectacle of the famous Bay of Naples, the smoking glory

STABILIZE FRANC

France Fixes Value at 179 to Pound Sterling.

PARIS —(INS)— With the agreement of the United States and Great Britain, the declining French franc was stabilized today at 179 to the British pound sterling.

Announcement to this effect was made to correspondents by Finance Minister Paul Marchandeau. This makes the franc worth slightly less than 2.8 cents in American currency.

Shortly before the announcement was made, the bourse boomed as the franc was traded at 35.50 to the dollar and 178 to the pound.

Energetic intervention of the exchange equalization fund will check any drop of the franc below the figure fixed by the government.

Barbers' Board President Returned As Charges Are Dismissed.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Benjamin Bontempo, 39, Cleveland, was reinstated today as president of the Ohio board of barber examiners by Governor Davey.

Bontempo had been suspended by the governor when charges of blackmail were filed against him in Cleveland. Later these charges were dismissed when a Cleveland court found there was not sufficient evidence against Bontempo.

HEADS FOR HOME

Roosevelt Gets Mail by Plane As Fishing Trip Nears End.

After 52 Years, Quilting Still Fascinates Butler Veteran, 82

If you can imagine the patience it takes to put 14,556 pieces of material together, you can imagine the fascination that piecing quilts holds for George B. Keefer of Butler.

At the Central M. E. church last night where 25 of Mr. Keefer's quilts were exhibited along with some 35 quilts of Mansfield families, the elderly gentleman told of putting pieces together for the past 52 years.

Mr. Keefer celebrated his 82nd birthday April 8. He no longer is a janitor at the Lucas school, but he still has a healthy appetite, a keen eye and a steady finger for sewing.

Very dapper with his white goatee, summer suit and white shoes last night, Mr. Keefer said he wants it understood that he does very little actual quilting now. He can, but he much prefers to put the pieces together, make the pattern and his own designs, and let someone else finish the job of quilting.

Of all the quilts Mr. Keefer has made (and his total would run into the hundreds) he considers his "Trip Around the World" the masterpiece. It has 14,556 pieces of material and another quilt call-

Shelby Comes To Aid of Family Of 10, Dogged By Misfortune

SHELBY—If bad luck comes in three's, the Lester Jewett family here has had more than its rightful share.

The mother of eight children looked at the mass of charred timbers, twisted pipe and broken glass that was their home until fire burned it to the ground yesterday, and offered a silent prayer that this was the final link in their chain of misfortune.

Shelby residents are hoping to turn the tide of the Jewett family's hard luck by making a collection to rebuild the little farm house. W. D. Wareham, R. D. 4, Shelby, guardian for the partially-blinded Mr. Jewett, has offered to assist the Jackson township trustees in collecting money, clothes or household goods.

The Jewett's first bad luck was several years ago when the father of the family was partially blinded in a building accident.

Unable to continue his work in the building trade, he moved his family to a farm outside of the town. By working the land, and making the most of a small workman's compensation, the family managed to be independent of relief.

Then, last year the barn on the CHARTER XXX.

"She works at the Hand and Flower at Railing," said William.

Algy sat up and began to take notice.

"The deuce she does! Well, that's very interesting. What about it?"

"It don't seem as if I ought to hold my tongue," William said.

"Then I shouldn't."

"Only my young lady she don't want to be drawn into it, if you take my meaning, sir."

Algy laughed a little grimly. "I don't suppose any of us wanted to be drawn into it."

"No, sir. All very well on the pictures murders are, but close at hand there's something 'orrid about them to my way of thinking."

"Two minds with but a single thought," said Algy. "Now what about coming to the point—getting the stuff off the chest?"

William produced the handkerchief and moped his glistening brow. "Sunday nights when I have my evening out I go over to Railing, but Sunday nights when I don't my young lady she comes over here, and if I can slip out we do a bit of walk up and down in the lane, and last night—"

"You slipped out?"

"Yes, sir. And Ellen she says to me—her name is Ellen Hawkins and she's got a married sister that keeps a toy-shop in Railing—very nice people they are, and Ellen she's at the Hand and Flower—"

"What did she say?"

"Well, she hadn't heard about Mr. Sturrock being shot. She'd had the afternoon off from four o'clock, so she wasn't there when the police come, and she didn't know nothing about it, and she says, 'Oh, William,' she says, 'how 'orrid! I wouldn't ha' come over if I'd ha' known'. And 'It don't seem hardly right, and you'll have to take me home, for I won't go by myself and that's flat,' she says, so I done it.

"Is that all?" said Algy after a prolonged pause.

William shook his head. "Oh, no, sir. We got talking while we was going along like, and Ellen she told me something, and I told her she didn't ought to keep it to herself."

"Well, what did she say?"

"Well, she put it this way, sir—if the police come and asked her, she'd be bound to tell them, and if they didn't ask her, then it wasn't none of her business. 'And look what come to poor Mr. Sturrock,' she says. 'You won't make me nor anyone else believe that he didn't know something,' she says, 'and that's why he was done in. And I wish I'd held my tongue and not told you anything,' she says.

"What did she tell you?" said Algy.

"Well, sir, it was this way. Ellen's second housemaid at the Hand and Flower, and she hasn't any business in the smoke-room on a Sunday afternoon, so I wouldn't like to be getting her into trouble."

"You won't," said Algy. "Get on."

"Well, sir, it was her afternoon off like I told you, and she was all dressed to go out, and the smoke-room being empty, she slipped in to have a look at one of the papers there—something about the pattern of a dress she seen the picture of and was wanting to copy and she wasn't sure she'd got it right.

"Well, then she got a fright. She heard voices in the passage, and one of them was Mr. Rudge, the proprietor. She didn't want him to find her there, so she stepped behind the curtain, which was a right-down silly thing to do, because it made her look as if she was doing something wrong. She took a look through the curtain, and the talking had stopped, and then she got another fright, because Mr. Sturrock come into the room. He walked over to the table and stood looking down at the papers that was on it, and Ellen thought whatever should she do if he was going to stay. But he didn't. He went back to the door and looked along the passage, and after a minute he went out and Ellen she come out from behind the curtain, but when she got to the door, there was Mr. Sturrock in the telephone booth right opposite, and she dursn't pass him, so she stayed where she was, and that's how it come that she heard what he was saying."

"Those booths are supposed to be sound-proof, aren't they?"

"This one isn't, sir, because the door doesn't fit. There's a radiator near, and the wood's shrunk, so it won't stay shut, not all the way down. And Ellen says she heard Mr. Sturrock say, 'Is that you?' and she says she heard him name a name."

What name?"

"And she heard him say, 'I've got to see you,' and then something about some letters and it's being worth his while. She says she didn't pay any particular attention because of watching her opportunity to slip out, but she does remember Mr. Sturrock saying, 'It'll have to be in the house. I won't come out to meet you, and you know why. You bring the money, and I'll have the letters ready for you.' And then she got her chance because he turned clean away from her, and she ran for it."

"You said she heard a name."

William lost some of his ruddy color.

"Mr. Sturrock was shot, sir. I'd like to be sure about Ellen not coming to any harm."

"She can have police protection. She'll have to speak—she'll have to say what she knows. Come on, man, give me the name!"

William gulped. "Ellen she heard Mr. Sturrock say, 'Is that you?' and she heard him say a name, and she says it was Rooster."

Algy sat quite stiff for about a minute. Then he said, "What?" very softly, and William said, "Rooster, sir."

There was another silence. Then Algy got up. His mind felt stiff and his tongue felt stiff, but he managed to say, "Thank you very much, William."

Algy left William and went downstairs to the study, where he rang up Railing Place and asked if he could speak to Mr. Montagu Lushington. He thought it would add an ironic touch to the situation if Brewster were presently to enquire whether he could take a message. Instead, Monty's voice, rather stiff and chilly:

"What is it?"

"Algy Somers speaking, sir. I want to come over and see you—at once, if I may. I've just heard something which I think is tremendously important. I think you ought to know what it is before I give it to the police. I can't tell you about it on the telephone. May I come over? It's—it's really ! - portant."

"I think it is inadvisable," said Montagu Lushington. After a moment's pause he added, "I think you might find it difficult to get here." The line went dead.

Algy hung up at his end, and thought, "That means I'm to be arrested. . . . . Monty wants to keep out of the mess. . . . I don't blame him . . . . It mightn't mean anything more than my not being allowed to leave Cole Lester. . . ."

He looked at his watch. Twenty-three mintues to four. It would take him the best part of an hour to reach Railing Place. But something had been said about a short cut. He couldn't remember who had said it, but something had been said.

He sought out William, and decided that the short cut ought to be quite easy to follow. Of course, if he dared take his car—but he didn't dare.

He strolled down the drive and into the lane. A very young policeman looked at him uncertainly and let him pass.

Algy continued to stroll until he was out of sight, when he began to walk as fast as he could. Williams had given him two short cuts, and the first one took off no more than a quarter of a mile away, for which he felt duly grateful. He climbed a stile, cut across a couple of fields, and got back to the road again by way of a little wood. At about 10 minutes past four he was approaching the second short cut, which led past a disused quarry and a number of fields to Railing Place.

Mr. Brewster had arrived at this point a few minutes before. He was not nearly so fast a walker as Algy Somers and he had not hurried himself. His thoughts were pleasant and he savored them with enjoyment. He looked idly at the quarry as he skirted it. It was deep, and must have been long in disuse, for there were saplings growing here and there in the clefts.

He went forward with the track and came out upon the road. There was a car coming from the direction of Railing. Dr. Hammond, at the wheel, saw a man emerge from the old cart track and, recognizing Mr. Brewster, trod heard on his brakes and came sliding up beside him. Mr. Brewster turned, and the car stopped.

Dr. Hammond opened the door, leaned out of it, and said, "Hullo! Your name's Brewster, isn't it?"

Mr. Brewster in his primmest manner admitted it.

Dr. Hammond leaned a little farther out, his eyes more than ever like those of a terrier—a terrier who sees a rat. The bright spark in them alarmed Mr. Brewster. This man was the police surgeon. He slid a nervous hand into his pocket.

Dr. Hammond said in his sharp, barking voice, "Met you at Cole Lester yesterday, didn't I?"

"I belive so—if you can call it meeting."

"You came in, and I went out. That's how it was, wasn't it? But I never forget a face."

"A very useful faculty," said Mr. Brewster.

"Sometimes." Jim Hammond grinned. "Can I give you a lift, Mr. Brewster?"

"No thanks, I have come out for some exercise."

"Glutton for exercise, aren't you? Do you often take it at three in the morning?"

"I really don't—" Mr. Brewster's hand was coming out of his pocket.

"I saw you getting over the gate at Hangman's Corner last night. I think the pond up there is about due for a clean out. Hangman's Pond they call it. Nasty name. Nasty insanitary pond. I'm going to recommend its being cleaned out, Mr. Brewster—"

MILD SUPPORT STEMS SELLING IN SECOND HOUR

Market Loses Rallying Urge, Leaders Dip Fractions to Point or More.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market lost its rallying urge today and many leaders dipped fractions to a point or so.

Prices were around the worst at the opening. Mild support stemmed selling near the second hour, but volume dwindled to negligible proportions.

Action of the French government in cutting the value of the franc to approximately 2.79 cents in terms of the dollar apparently was undisturbing to financial quarters where the belief was general that no devaluation of sterling or United States currency was likely at this time.

Bonds and commodities were uneven. Foreign securities markets were quiet with the exception of the Paris bourse, which exhibited strength.

Noted were figures of the Federal Housing administration disclosing mortgages accepted for insurance on small homes now are at a peak of $1,198,000,000, having mounted $63,250,000 in April.

While the latest weekly bank clearings estimate indicated a pick-up in the total for the country as a whole of 1.3 per cent over the preceding week, the aggregate for the 25th consecutive week was under the comparable 1937 period.

REJECTS RATES

Utilities Commission Refuses Plan By Ohio Rail Lines

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The State Utilities commission today rejected schedules of increased freight rates for intrastate transportation filed by Ohio railroads on grounds that the increases did not conform with an earlier commission order.

In a ruling April 14, the commission increased rates for all freight with the exception of 20 items.

FOUND IN CISTERN

VAN VERT — (INS) — Perry R. Hoghe, 66, was found drowned today in a cistern near his home seven miles south of here. Coroner W. E. Beach blamed ill health and indicated he would return a suicide verdict.

From the age of 40 on, the lowest mortality is found among those who are underweight.

Bolinger Fails To Appear In State Securities Fight.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The state civil service commission today dismissed the appeal of James A. Bolinger of Fremont from an order removing him as a state securities division examiner on charges of dishonesty.

The dismissal was ordered for failure of Bolinger or his counsel, Dan McCullough, to attend the hearing by the commission, scheduled upon the filing of Bolinger's appeal.

Cattle 3.500, calves 1 500 supplies sharply abridged and general trade more active, strong, instances a little higher on steers; no choice steers here, best around $9.50, mostly 7 75-8 75 market with a sprinkling down to $7.50 and below, bulk light steers $9 25, stockers and feeders dull weak but scarce hardly enough cows and heifers here to make a market; trade steady; bulls strong to 25c higher; active with shippers buying; weighty sausage offerings freely up to $9.60, choice vealers steady at $9 00-0 50; light kinds slow; mainly steady at $7 00-8 50.

Sheep 9.000 including 1 500 direct; late Wednesday fat lambs steady to 10c lower, woolskins down most; top wooled lambs $8 90; bulk $8.65 down, choice California springers $9.65, practical top clipped lambs $8.00; today's trade slow, indications around steady; bulk wooled lambs held above $8.85, choice clipped lambs held above $8 00 sheep steady.

CITY GETS AUTO TAG FUND CHECK

$12,500 to be Used For Street Program, Kelly Says.

City Auditor Paul L. Kelly today announced that the city had received $12,500 in the first statewide allocation of 1938 auto registration fee funds.

The amount will go into the auto registration fee fund to bolster a running cash balance of approximately $7,700.

He explained that the funds received were anticipated revenues which will be used for the maintenance and reconstruction of city streets.

LAUNCHES TAX EVASION PROBE

Up to now, treasury agents made personal visits to the homes and business establishments of those taxpayers under investigation. This procedure required so much time that agents concentrated on the more flagrant cases and neglected intensive inquiry into smaller returns.

Henceforth, agents will "invite" those taxpayers whose returns are being questioned to appear for a hearing At this hearing, the taxpayer will be given the opportunity to present evidence to show that a proper tax return was filed.

Should the taxpayer refuse to appear, the bureau is prepared to take immediate legal action.

Last year, the treasury made an intensive study of income returns submitted by wealthy taxpayers This action disclosed many of this group had utilized loop-holes in the tax law to evade taxes.

While all returns filed from persons in the higher income brackets are scrutinized thoroughly, officials reported that there would be no special investigation of this class at the present time. The treasury believes all tax-loop-holes have been plugged effectively as a result of last year's inquiry.

Officials anticipate the more detailed inspection of smaller returns this year will result in a number of fraud prosecutions.

$125,000 FIRE HITS TOLEDO

Two Four-Story Buildings in Path of Flames.

TOLEDO — (AP) — A four-alarm fire swept through two four-story buildings in the downtown business district today, causing a loss estimated at $125,000 by Fire Chief Fred Schlorf.

The flames, fanned by a high south wind, threatened the entire block and sparks and burning embers were carried into the residential district known as lower town.

The fire was discovered by Fred A. Hill, who cut his hand badly when he smashed the glass in the alarm box to call the fire department.

FACE to FACE with $500

Suppose you were to obtain $500 in cash today, to use any way you pleased, so long as you spent it wisely and well. What would you do with the money? Here are a few of the things you could do with a loan:

First, you could make a clean sweep of all your debts . . . pay up every last troublesome bill and consolidate all your scattered monthly payments into one.

Then you could trade in your old car for a newer model at a real bargain price, by making up the difference with cash.

Or you could buy new spring clothes, attend sales, take advantage of opportunities, meet emergencies . . . accomplish any of the hundred and one plans you have been putting off for want of ready cash.

FLEXIBLE PAYMENTS
In order to prevent the piling up of payments which would work a hardship on the borrower, a full thirty-day period is allowed between payments, no matter when the last payment was made.

DISCOUNTS ALLOWED
A discount of 10% of the charges is allowed each month for prompt payment. The City Loan voluntarily offers you this worthwhile saving.

HERE, sir, is the bright particular star of the automotive year: a car to make you proud and happy — you can prove that anywhere on the highway these bright May days.

In it, you can know luxury in your travels and still not over-strain your budget!

Fact is, you feel like a million just sitting in this Buick!

And you know you're commanding the "tops" in power the first time you give its eager DYNAFLASH engine the gun!

At the wheel you feel the buoyant steadiness that is TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING'S special gift to motoring—the firm, fleet roadability of a car that's beautifully poised in all its going.

There's no "hop" on this fast one. It doesn't "gallop" or bounce or pitch.

Its soft stout coiled steel springs let the wheels follow the road—rise to the swells, dip to the hollows—yet pass none of that lively up-and-down on to the body.

You travel level as a straightedge, thrill to turbine-smooth power that's quick as lightning—know a kind of travel-comfort that neither road nor weather mars. Yet what are the facts on costs?

This great straight-eight actually costs less than some sixes! Price almost any other car, and by the time you've added in the extra values included in Buick's figures, you've paid for the matchless performance only Buick can give you!

So don't sit idly wishing for a star! Reach up—get this one! We're ready to show you any day it costs less than you think.

"Better buy Buick!"

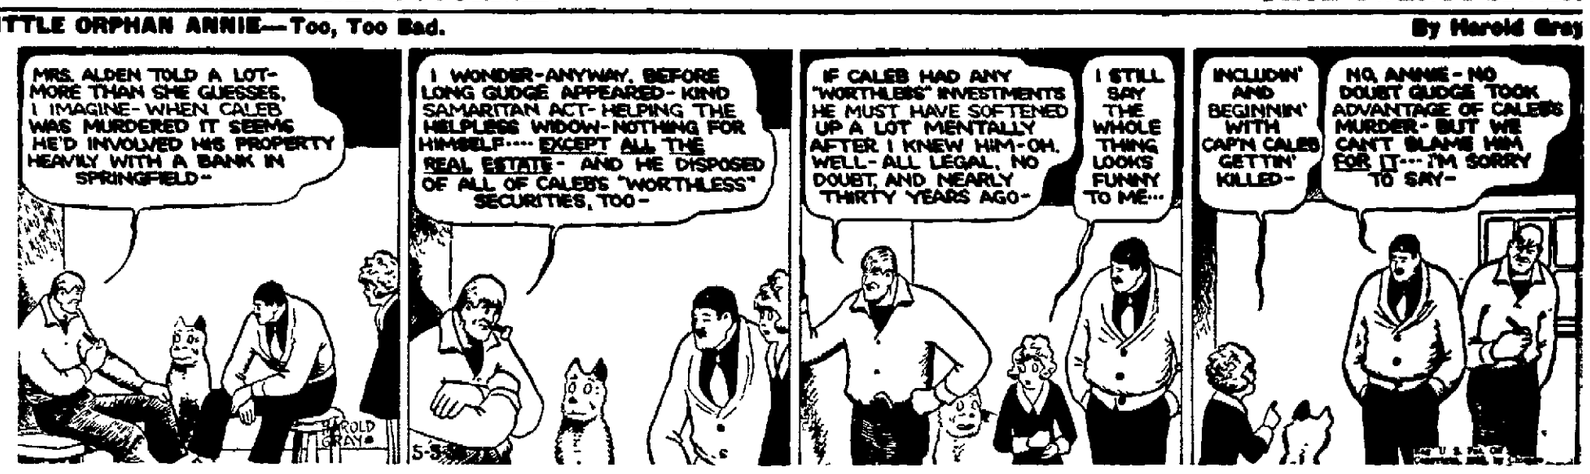
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Too, Too Bad. By Harold Gray



MRS. ALDEN TOLD A LOT-MORE THAN SHE GUESSES, I IMAGINE-WHEN CALEB WAS MURDERED IT SEEMS HE'D INVOLVED HIS PROPERTY HEAVILY WITH A BANK IN SPRINGFIELD-
HAROLD GRAY
I WONDER-ANYWAY, BEFORE LONG GUDGE APPEARED-KIND SAMARITAN ACT-HELPING THE HELPLESS WIDOW-NOTHING FOR HIMSELF.... EXCEPT ALL THE REAL ESTATE-AND HE DISPOSED OF ALL OF CALEB'S "WORTHLESS" SECURITIES, TOO-
5-5
IF CALEB HAD ANY "WORTHLESS" INVESTMENTS HE MUST HAVE SOFTENED UP A LOT MENTALLY AFTER I KNEW HIM-OH, WELL-ALL LEGAL, NO DOUBT, AND NEARLY THIRTY YEARS AGO-
I STILL SAY THE WHOLE THING LOOKS FUNNY TO ME...
INCLUDIN' AND BEGINNIN' WITH CAP'N CALEB GETTIN' KILLED-
NO, ANNIE-NO DOUBT GUDGE TOOK ADVANTAGE OF CALEB'S MURDER-BUT WE CAN'T BLAME HIM FOR IT-I'M SORRY TO SAY-

THE NEBBS—Sick Man? By Sol Hess

MR. NEBB IS NOT A BIT WELL THIS MORNING-'E CAWN'T EAT A BIT OF BREAKFAST BUT 'E IS GOING TO TRY TO GET UP IN TIME FOR THE TRIAL
THAT ISN'T NECESSARY-SEE THAT HE STAYS IN BED UNTIL HE FEELS BETTER
WOULDN'T I BE A PRIZE RUBE TO STICK MY SNOOT INTO THAT COURT ROOM-ITS JUST AN INVITATION FOR THAT TOUGH GUY TO MAKE MY FUTURE A BAD RISK FOR INSURANCE!!
GET MY THINGS READY, MUGGINS, I'M GOING TO GET UP-I MUST GO TO THAT TRIAL!
NO, MR. NEBB, THE MAWSTER SAYS YOU'RE TO STAY IN BED UNTIL YOU'VE ENTIRELY RECOVERED-YOU HAVE NO FEVER-ON THE CONTRARY YOU'RE AS COLD AS ICE-YOU ACT LIKE YOU'RE FRIGHTENED!

SHOWS HITLER NAVY STRENGTH

of Vesuvius, the hazy view of the romantic Capri. And once again, as he did when Hitler first arrived in Rome, Il Duce sought to remain in the background.

All for Hitler.

Thousands upon thousands welcomed Hitler, and Mussolini made certain that the welcome would be aimed at Hitler, not divided between himself and the German fuehrer.

Naples, in turn did full justice to its opportunity to give a noted visitor a tumultuous welcome, which was in marked contrast with the relative apathy with which Hitler was greeted by the population of Rome.

Germans, gathered together in an area next to the station, roared deep-throated "heils" when Hitler stepped from his train.

The only public building not beflagged for the occasion was the church at the entrance to the Via Partenope.

But the huge Arc of Triumph there was beflagged and decorated. This 80-foot high structure was divided into three cubicles, and in each cubicle stood three buglers

Hitler's face, as he surveyed them, appeared grim and foreboding. He seemed excessively fatigued, and observers thought they saw him making a definite effort to hold his shoulders erect.

Later, when he was aboard the flagship Cavour, which steamed to a position from which the maneuvers could be seen, Hitler stood on the bridge beside Mussolini and watched the Italian fleet go through its war games with the aid of powerful binoculars.

Adopting the tactics of Hollywood, Naples turned Vesuvius into a flaming billboard to welcome Hitler. The massive slopes of the famous mountain blazoned a fiery "heil Hitler" — a greeting visible from the cliffs of Capri to the ruins of old Pompeii

It was as if an attempt had been made to change the ancient saying, "see Naples and die," to "see Naples and be flabbergasted"

WHAT DO YOU KNOW OF FUND?

house to the actual needs of a new born baby

We hear a lot about character building and that's the goal of the majority of Community Fund agencies.

That is the purpose of the Y W C. A., the Y. M. C A., the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, and Friendly House.

Visiting Nurses, on the other hand use their Community Fund allowance to take care of people who are just as sick as wealthy people, but who haven't the money to pay.

A Typical Story.

Miss Marjorie Palmer, supervisor of the Visiting Nurse association, tells this typical story.

"A middle-class family had been saving pennies to pay for their coming baby Several months before the child was born, the mother was stricken with appendicitis and had to have an operation That took the 'baby fund' Then, the father lost his job. When the time came for the baby to arrive, there was no money to pay the nurse Here's where we entered the picture."

Visiting Nurses are given $6,500 a year from the Fund. Out of 447 nursing calls they made last month, they collected approximately $150 from people who were able to pay Figure it out for yourself. There has to be money from some other source or the service wouldn't go on.

"The worse industrial conditions are, the more the visiting nurses have to do", Miss Palmer says. "When business is bad in factories, our business is rushing because people know they can depend on us if they need free nursing service."

Among the character-building agencies, Friendly House gets $7,000 from the Fund That may seem a sizeable amount to the casual observer, but try running everything from a free kindergarten to adult Americanization classes for some 1,000 members and see how much you have left over.

Friendly House is Mansfield's only community settlement. Directed by Russell E Gimbel, it has no barriers of race or color. Only 16 per cent of the clients are American-born whites Other percentages are 35 8 colored, 16 6 Italian, 10 8 German, and 7 9 other nationalities

If Mr Gimbel had as much money as he would like to spend for the boys and girls who prefer the settlement house to the hanging around the corner, he would build a swimming pool at the cented He'd like to buy the lot behind the house on North Main street for an extended playground, too

"Perhaps someday," he said, "but the problem now is to make the fund go over so well have enough to carry on next year" property burned to the ground. Shortly after that accident, several of the children came down with diphtheria. One child died from the disease.

"I'm thankful," the mother said today, "that we all escaped from the fire uninjured."

The fire started when Mr. Jewett knocked over a kerosene lamp early Wednesday morning as he reached for medicine to treat his eyes.

While Mrs. Jewett led her husband to safety, the oldest daughter, Della, 16, awakened the other seven children and got them out of the house safely.

Only a few of the children's everyday clothes and a washing machine, stored in the back of the house, were saved. The family attempted to call the fire department, but the wires had burned. Neighbors later summoned the fire department, but the house was in ruins before the department could arrive at the farm.

QUILTING STILL FASCINATES HIM

ed "Trip to Egypt" has 10,070 pieces and between 1500 and 1600 yards of thread.

The first quilt he ever made, a double "Irish Chain" pattern, now is owned by his daughter who was just a small child when Mr. Keefer started sewing.

For about 20 years, Mr. Keefer gave every graduate of Lucas school a quilt top for a parting gift. Classes averaged 15 graduates a year

Last night's quilting party was sponsored by the First Circle of the Church of which Mrs. R. C. Clark is chairman. General chairman of the program was Mrs. W. F. Shriver. The quilts were collected by Mrs. C. N. Shultz, assisted by Mrs. H. J. Dotson.

An original poem, based on the favorite pieces of a patchwork quilt, was read by Mrs. H. N. Keene. Little Danny Bishop and Martha Jane Ewing were miniature bride and groom in a mock wedding march.

The musical program was in charge of Mrs. Lewis Rahn. Mrs. Clark and Mrs. L. A. Ogborn poured at the tea that followed.

EXPERTS CALL AIR DEFENSE WEAK IN CHINA

(By United Press)

CANTON—Experience of the Japanese air force, particularly in South China, again has shown that aerial bombing is a greatly over-rated offensive weapon in modern warfare. That is the conclusion of every one of several foreign military observers, both official and unofficial, interviewed by the United Press here, in the heart of a section bombed incessantly for more than eight months.

"In the South China campaign, as well as throughout China, there are three facts made clearer than ever," one observer declared.

"They are (1) bombing as an offensive weapon has been highly over-rated not only in the Sunday supplements but by air force officials as well; (2) temporary derangement of communication lines and traffic facilities is the net result of thousands of bombs dropped in this area, indicating that permanent destruction by aerial bombing alone is impossible; (3) instead of demoralizing the civilian population, bombing definitely intensifies the spirit of resistance."

Continuing, the same observer declared that "the chief objective of the Japanese air force in this area has been to destroy communications between Hong Kong, Canton and Hankow—but what have they done? In bombing virtually undefended lines the best results to date have been stopping traffic on the Canton-Hankow railway for three days, on the Canton-Kowloon for two."

In other respects, observers agreed, the air force has been of incalculable value to the Japanese —(1) for long range tactical observation, as an auxiliary arm of the army, (2) in reconnoitering for combat purposes, as an independent fighting unit, (3) for local technical observation in directing artillery fire, and (4) for further demoralizing retreating Chinese troops by machine gunning and bombing simultaneously with the advance of the Japanese infantry.

DISPLAY WORK

Madison Pupils Plan Exhibits for 'Open House' May 10.

Work completed by students of Madison high school during the school year will be shown at the school's annual "open house" observance Tuesday evening, May 10, Wayne E. Miller, principal, announced today.

There will be no classes in session that night, but faculty members will be in their rooms between 7:15 and 9 p. m. to confer with parents, Miller said. Each room will have its own exhibit of work completed during the year.

At 9 p. m. a motion picture show will be presented in the auditorium for parents and visitors. Music during the evening will be presented by the high school band under the direction of James Wendling, music supervisor at the school.

OFFERS REMEDY FOR U. S. ILLS IN TALK TO BAR

Judge Day Says Nation Must Return to Spiritual and Economic Values of Old.

The United States will get back on its feet when its confused people discover they need the spiritual and economic values our forefathers used in building the nation, Judge Arthur H. Day of the Ohio Supreme court said last night in a talk before the Richland county Bar association at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Speaking informally to about 50 bar members and their wives at the association's annual dinner, Judge Day pointed out that one of the troubles with the country today is that the man who repeats Lincoln's words, "A government by the people and for the people," usually is waving a flag and representing something we ought not tolerate.

"The World war caused a loss of some of our spiritual values, and in the past nine years we have seen a fostering of group hatreds in this country," Judge Day said. "Before we right the wrongs we must bring these warring groups together and destroy the artificial classifications."

Pointing to the important part lawyers have played in the building of the nation, he emphasized the need for more vigilance from the legal profession in maintaining the American standard

Says Leadership Needed.

"There is nothing wrong with the thinking of the average American who, after all, determines the course the nation will follow, but he needs leadership, and the lawyers can do much to provide that guidance," he asserted.

He credited the authorship of the Constitution to attorneys and judges and described it as "a liberal document that serves as a check on, too much liberalism. It is a fence that surrounds the public official to keep him within reasonable limits and it assures us of our form of government," the judge said

He credited the idealism of women with the building of the home and the nation and added that it will be through a desire to protect the home that men will fight to retain a democratic form of government and to keep out sinister influences.

"Men have helped to translate the idealism of women into practical form," Judge Day said, "after the men were made to realize that everything good comes from the home unit."

A musical program for the dinner, arranged by a committee headed by Atty. J. H. Gongwer, included vocal solos by Miss Kathleen MacIntosh and Paul Davis and violin numbers by Dale Bechtel, students at Mansfield high school.

Atty. C. H. Henkel was toastmaster and introduced Judge Day.

Candy Makers Sue Because of Line In Temple Movie

NEW YORK—(AP)—The National Confectioners association, has a $500,000 suit in State Supreme court against 20th Century Fox films charging that the photoplay "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," starring Shirley Temple, damages the appeal of a bar of candy.

The association charged on behalf of its 325 members that a scene in the picture held up their profession "to ridicle and shame" and demanded prohibition of further exhibition of the film until the "offending scene" is deleted.

The line to which objection was taken is spoken by Helen Wesley, who plays Aunt Miranda.

Little Miss Temple is asked whether she has had anything to eat

"Oh, yes, I have," Shirley replies. "Uncle Henry bought me a candy bar.

PLAN NEW CAR

French Manufacturer Designs Rear Motor Vehicle.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Emile E. C. Mathis, French motor manufacturer, has confirmed reports that he and Alex Wenner-Gren, Swedish industrialist, were planning a new type of automobile powered by a radial motor in the rear and designed to sell for $500 or less.

Tentative plans call for manufacture of the car in France, England, Sweden and the United States, with the American plant to be located near New York.

Mathis said the car was designed to go 50 to 60 miles on a gallon of gasoline, and that the motor would have seven, eight or nine cylinders. Maximum speed, he said, would be about 50 miles per hour.

Spain's American colonies already had established five universities when Harvard, the first in the United States, was founded in 1636.

Get Wise to Constipation!

When you're constipated, it's a great temptation to be satisfied with quick relief. But physics may become a habit. And they don't keep constipation from returning. It's so much better to get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat what most people do, chances are the only thing the matter is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

What to do? Eat a little Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk"—it also contains the natural intestinal tonic, vitamin B,. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek Sold by every grocer.

It's Odd

But It's Science.

NEW YORK—Some people use numbers to foretell the future.

But great mathematicians find numbers that describe the past. These numbers tell how the unseen part of the universe is made. They seem to come from some mysterious happening of billions of years ago.

One of these queer mathematical numbers is described in the British science journal, "Nature," by Professor E. Schroedinger, one of the world's greatest mathematical thinkers.

The number is 10 to the 39th or 40th power. It is 1 followed by 39 or 40 zeros. This number has shown up in unexpected ways in computations of the extent of the universe.

Astronomers suspect the number is the count of all the "mass particles"—that is, the heavy fundamental particles of matter—forming the whole universe. These heavy particles are protons and neutrons. If electrons are counted the particles are then number one followed by nearly 100 zeros.

Professor Schroedinger finds a possible new justification for the 10-39th power number in the apparent fact that this number of heavy particles would be just about enough to stop radiation from completely crossing the universe. Where there is no radiation, it is thought there probably is no matter.

THURSDAY, MAY 5 1938.

After looking a hundred and fifty years backward, this seems like a good time to start looking a few years forward.

More should be expected of the child than of the parent—you may not even recall that Man o' War never won a derby.

A Republican is seldom heard to criticize either the state or federal administration—dissatisfied Democrats usually dominate the conversational period.

In the Matter of Gas Rates.

VIEWED from the experience of several years prior to 1935, it would seem that repetition of a long and costly gas rate controversy between the city of Mansfield and the Ohio Fuel Gas company should be avoided—if possible.

The previous long-drawn-out controversy ended with the company's acceptance of rates fixed in an ordinance passed three years ago and extending to the middle of this month.

It will be recalled, also, that the gas company made refunds to consumers of a difference, collected under bond, following rejection of rates contained in an ordinance passed in 1931.

City council is now asking for a slight rate reduction—allowance of 1,000 feet for the first dollar, instead of 500 feet, as at present.

The Ohio Fuel Gas company counters with a proposal which would increase the rate of small consumers to 74 cents per thousand feet from the present 65-cent rate for consumers of 5,000 cubic feet per month.

The claim is again being made by gas company spokesmen that the company is losing money under the present Mansfield rate, just as it was asserted that money was being lost under the rates collected from 1931 to 1935, prior to making the refund of approximately a quarter of a million dollars to Mansfield gas users.

Whatever may be the outcome of present negotiations, in the matter of securing the small rate reduction for which council is asking, it should be very generally understood that city councilmen and Mayor Hunter are being depended upon by the people of Mansfield to see to it that there is no increase in natural gas rates in this city.

Students of Government.

PROBLEMS of the United States Government" is the general topic of the third annual Yale-Harvard-Princeton Conference on Public Affairs. There will be five round table groups discussing "Government and Monetary Control," "Government and the Current Depression," "Government and the Relation of Labor to Capital," "Foreign Policy," and "Propaganda and Public Opinion in a Democracy."

These are all timely subjects, understanding of which by the rising generation is of great importance. The present conference is sponsored by the Yale Daily News, the Harvard Crimson and the Daily Princetonian. It is a student undertaking, supported by many leading authorities on the subjects up for study.

There was a time, some years ago, when college students didn't know that governments had problems. Today they are keenly interested and rather well informed on the subject. It is a hopeful condition.

After Four Long Years.

FORTUNATELY for all concerned, it was not necessary to close the highway between Mansfield and Ashland during the four years of playing around with the three-and-a-half-mile "cut-off" around Windsor on Route 42.

Of questionable advisability in the first place, as compared with other actual needs, this road-straightening job was started in 1934 as a CWA project and has been dragged slowly and expensively through various of the federal alphabetical agencies for four years, whereas a liberal time allowance would have carried it to completion no later than the early fall of 1935.

It is now stated that "some grading remains to be done" before the actual paving is started—so it will probably be another six or seven months before the road is completed—unless something else intervenes to cause further delay.

All of which provides an impressive local example of inefficiency and waste of time and public money.

Wrong Kinds of Teachers.

NEW YORK CITY finds more men than usual applying for examinations for teachers' certificates. This is a result of the depression, says Dr. Louis Marks of the board of examiners. He thinks it would be a good thing for the schools to have a fifty-fifty division between men and women teachers.

Another development, probably caused in part at least by the depression, is the shift of interest in subjects. English used to be the most popular. Now it is in fourth place, with history, biology and commercial subjects ahead.

From the standpoint of employment, most of the men and women seeking teaching positions appear to have picked the wrong subjects. A thousand persons applied for history examinations, although there were only 16 history teaching positions listed for women and none for men.

On the other hand, while there are 40 candidates to one position in the academic high schools, there are not enough candidates to fill teaching jobs waiting in the technical and vocational schools. In 100 trade subjects for which examinations were offered last fall, only 225 persons qualified for 450 vacancies.

Interest at New Low.

BORROWING $50,000,000, the United States government is said to have broken the record for cheap money. The "treasury bills" composing this total were sold to various lenders at rates averaging 9 cents per $1,000 for three months.

It is fortunate that the government's credit is still so good as these figures suggest, in spite of vast spending, mounting debt and hard times. It would be far better, though, if the vast reservoir of credit, of which these fifty millions are merely a bucketful, could be poured into private enterprise.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

RADIO LISTENERS have begun to compare the voices of Gov. Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin, leader of the new National Progressives' party, and President Roosevelt.

One woman expresses the difference thus:

"Governor La Follette has vigor and ruggedness, rather than the philosophical truths of President Roosevelt. He may be as thoroughly cultivated, yet he appears more the plainsman, striking for truth with direct blows. He is better when not so oratorical. President Roosevelt has the theory of a cultivated man for a Utopia. His enemies can more easily turn his thought and ideals against him through underhand appeal to mass prejudice."

STRENGTH NOW

Conservatives secretly are engendering mass appeal for the La Follette movement at the moment—to wean progressives and liberals away from Roosevelt, and "finally dispose of him."

Then, the plan is to 'put up a strong Republican ticket in 1940 and regain control of the government."

Some of the younger Republicans, however, point out dangers in this program. There are two probabilities: (1) La Follette really may develop a strong following, and split not only the Democrats but the Republicans; (2) the people may begin to fear an attempt to wreck all they have gained under the New Deal, and turn to Mr. Roosevelt for a third term.

TOO BITTER?

In fact, the secret as well as an open attack on President Roosevelt has become so bitter that it is in "danger" of having serious repercussions prior to 1940.

If Mr. Roosevelt should have to go before the country with an appeal to save even the most innocent of measures, as well as what he considers reforms vital for the people, he could rally a multitude of support. People might consider him indispensible as a fighter for their causes.

Wage-cutting also is aiding President Roosevelt, according to some of the younger Republicans.

The conservatives and reactionaries may be united in an attempt to discredit and unseat Mr. Roosevelt, but some of the younger men worry because there is no program to carry the country on—instead of back.

The Republicans themselves are in danger of losing younger leaders to the La Follette movement, which has the vitality of youth.

YOUTH IMPATIENT?

One merely has to go among young voters to hear their disgust of words uttered by "elder statesmen" and some other elders.

The feeling is this: 'These men speak dead words. And soon they, themselves, will be dead."

That is as true in England as in the United States. The political upheavals might just have begun in these two countries.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, May 5, 1918.

Robert B. Adams, salesman for Central Fruit Co., was at Green Springs for treatment.

Visitors from many Ohio cities attended Knights of Columbus meeting at which one hundred candidates were initiated.

Many Mansfielders went to Camp Sherman to visit soldiers soon to leave for France.

Fire department was called to East Arch street to extinguish grass fire that threatened properties.

"THREE'S A CROWD"!

La Follettes Have People Guessing

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Washington's politicians continue to talk of little but the "La Follette movement".

It is not, indeed, seen as likely to score heavily in this year's campaign results. It is too late for that. Nominating primaries already are progressing. When election day arrives the La Follette-ites will have not more than a small handful of candidates in the field except in Wisconsin.

But 1940 is a different matter.

PARTY REALIGNMENT?

What politicians are wondering is:

May the La Follette party not develop into one of the two major parties? — the liberal one versus conservatism?

Of course that was what the elder Senator Robert M. La Follette had in mind for Progressivism when he ran presidentially on its ticket in 1924. However, the time was not ripe then for a major party realignment. Business appeared to be thriving. The public opposed "rocking the boat".

DEPRESSION THOUGHTS.

True, there is the chance of recovery between now and 1940, with "Don't rock the boat" once more our motto.

Still, the recollection of past depressions will be pretty fresh—first a "Hoover depression," then a "Roosevelt depression." Which possibly will suggest that neither old-line party knows how to provide a depression-proof administration.

Naturally the La Follette-ites will assert that they do know how. Conceivably they will do it convincingly to the electorate.

CONSERVATISM MAY WIN?

In one fashion the La Follette folk may scramble the 1940 situation even as only a "third party"

That is to say, if they split liberalism between today's type of Roosevelt New Dealers and a new type of La Follette New Dealers it is imaginable that conservatism will prove stronger than either of the liberal factions, throwing the presidential selection into the house of representatives, anyway.

This possibility is what worries the veteran liberal, Senator George W. Norris, among others.

Senator Norris was a hard-and-fast ally of the elder Senator La Follette. He has almost a fatherly affection for the younger Senator La Follette. I think he has the same feeling toward young Gov. Philip La Follette. All the same, the current "La Follette movement" perturbs. He says so.

"YOUNG PHIL'S" APPEAL.

Governor Phil, the Messiah of the new movement, promises to have more "punch" than President Roosevelt.

"F. D.'s" tones are mellifluous, but it increasingly is complained that they voice only generalites. "Young Phil" has a few concrete plans to offer. They may not turn out to be any better than "F. D.'s"—but they're new and may work. Some of "F. D.'s" already have fizzled.

"Young Phil" himself is a bit vague in spots, but at least he declares himself against an "economy of scarcity"—the "killing of little pigs" and the unplanting of potentially productive acres.

"SCARCITY" FALLACY.

The "scarcity economy" argument manifestly is beginning to react formidably against Roosevelt-ianism.

It might have been expected.

Nearly everyone is aware that there are plenty of things that he hasn't enough of. He cannot easily be convinced that he will be better off by having less of them.

The Roosevelt New Dealers realize all right that there is no such thing as over-production; that under-consumption is the problem — they call it "lack of buying power", but they proceed on the over-production theory.

"Young Phil" disavows any such foolishness anyway, even if we don't understand exactly what his constructive program is.

Science Tests Old-Time Remedy.

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — One of the things this government does in its spare time is to test out crazy notions, and that is how it discovered that plastering a cud of chewing tobacco on a wound would stop the blood from spurting out.

We haven't as yet persuaded our favorite government bacteriologist to test whether a big swig of raw whisky is good for snake bite. But when Dr. Lazlo Detre, bacteriologist of the bureau of public health, heard of the chewing tobacco remedy he put his test tubes to work.

One of Dr. Detre's public health colleagues from down in the tobacco belt is responsible for starting him on the strange chase. The man said that when he was hunting as a boy with his father, their Negro servant cut off two of his fingers while chopping wood for a camp fire. Desperately the boy's father tried to keep the darky from bleeding to death. In something of a panic he slapped on a cud of tobacco. It worked. The bleeding stopped.

They took the Negro back to town where a physician roundly scolded everybody for taking such risks with infection. He removed the tobacco and cleaned the wound, only to start the bleeding again. The Negro didn't die but neither did the idea that chewing tobacco was good for wounds.

It's the Calcium.

DR. DETRE found out why. He used his own blood in the test. It isn't the nicotine. It is some sort of calcium in the tobacco which causes the blood to coagulate, or clot, and seal up the wound. Dr. Detre thought it likely that the nicotine, mixing in the blood that way, might do harm and no good at all. Evidently Dr. Detre's southern colleague's father had chewed out all the nicotine.

If you are going to become heroic and cut off a finger just to try this out, at least follow the approved method. Chewing is not the best way, although Dr. Detre said he had learned that Chesapeake Bay fishermen use a cud to stop bleeding from fish hook wounds. Best way (in case you can't get to a doctor) is to boil some tobacco long enough to stew out the juice and cause the nicotine to evaporate. The "tobacco tea" is better than a cud.

Milk also is good, said Dr. Detre, but "tobacco tea" is 10 times stronger.

Home-Grown Remedies.

DR. DETRE says it never pays to scoff at country superstitions. Folk remedies often have sound, practical value. Nevertheless, we should like him to try out his test tubes on the value of some of the following:

Carrying a small bag of asafedita on a string around your neck to ward off all manner of illnesses.

Packing a bacon rind about your neck to cure sore throat.

Holding your breath while you count nine—to stop hiccoughs.

Holding ice on the back of your neck to stop nosebleed.

Cut the Pages!

THREE BOOKS stood straight, side by side, on a public library shelf. . . . Three dusty books I had read years before in another library. . . . I took the first of the three down and blew the dust away and opened the book. I remembered what was in those books, remembered the deep enjoyment I'd had from reading them, in other copies, and I wanted to revive some of that pleasure by browsing through, turning the pages over and over, hunting for the purple passages I remembered.

But I found, as I turned the pages, that they had never been CUT. Nobody had ever read that book. It was made, it was sold to the library, it was catalogued, and placed upon the shelves . . . But the librarian had forgotten to cut the pages, and nobody had read those books. They were the record of a wise man's reflections, of his thoughts during a long and fruitful lifetime. No love stories. No jazz. No scandal. No trivialities. But magnificent, life-opening stuff—and no patron of that library knew what was in those books.

Well, books aren't the only things that lie on shelves and gather dust. Other things are neglected, too. People are neglected. Talents are left to gather dust. Impulses are ignored. Dreams are forgotten. . . . We forget to cut the pages of Life.

We think we are getting everything out of life, but we don't know what we are missing. Somewhere inside of us are power and magnificence and meaning, but we do not know it. Somewhere are Magic and Amazement and Joy and Possibility, we haven't cut the pages. In friends, in daily lives, in ourselves something may be gathering dust, but we do nothing about it. We have not cut the pages and perhaps we never shall. . . . And it's a pity, because a human life can be more fascinating than a book, if we but knew it, and we should not let any part of ourselves go dusty to the grave.

"With Malice Toward None."

Why hate? It crucifies the soul,
Embitters life, destroys
The gentle beauty of the dreams
Heart most of all enjoys.

Why hate? Why not go kindly here?
Life is too short for hate.
Shape all your days to love's bright ways,
To peace and love's estate.

Why hate? There is no place for it
In all this universe.
It is the bane of life, nay more,
It is the surest curse.

Love Doesn't "Just Happen."

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HOW LITTLE we know about love!

No experience is surrounded with so many rosy traditions—so many sentimental theories. Yet not one out of a hundred is true.

We think of love as something that "we're born with," such as the love of parent and child. Or something that descends upon us—a sort of divine seizure, as unforeseen as the mumps. And some, we believe, are naturally endowed with a greater lovableness than others.

But all of these theories are wrong. Love doesn't just happen. Nor are we born with it. Nor do we possess "lovable dispositions," or fail to possess them, willy nilly—as we possess red or blond or black hair.

There are, of course, certain natural bonds based on necessities . . . such as a baby's craving for its mother or a normal woman's delight in her child. And there is that intense attraction which comes as inevitably as the spring sap rises in the trees. But these impulses are not LOVE in its mature and spiritual sense.

The love that lasts . . . that love that is a thing of the spirit and not merely an urgency of the flesh . . . is neither an accident nor a gift. IT IS A DELIBERATE CHOICE AND ACHIEVEMENT. And it is, frequently, a very difficult, even a dangerous, choice and achievement.

We CHOOSE to LOVE as we choose to go to war . . . or go upon some far adventure. And, from the moment we choose, we are encompassed about with pressing problems.

For Love is not merely a feeling—

IT IS A REBIRTH INTO A STRANGE NEW LAND.

IT IS A DEDICATION AND A CONCENTRATION.

Real love is not an easy ecstasy, to be acquired swiftly and lightly. It is not a protective haven for the frightened or the lonely heart . . . nor a romance which will henceforth move like a secret movement through the heart.

LOVE IS A LONG, SLOW, SPIRITUAL DISCIPLINE, WHICH DEMANDS ENDLESS STUDY, STRUGGLE, ADJUSTMENT, SACRIFICE AND SELF-CONTROL.

Love is never an accomplished feat . . . never learned and sealed for a lifetime. Always the lesson goes on—through amazement and bewilderment, terror and tears, brief happiness, frequent tension and, most difficult of all to understand and endure maturely, long periods of withdrawal and seeming indifference.

No love, however true, remains forever at the heights. Its moments of lovely realization and communion come, and go, like the tides. There are times when the most devoted sweethearts or mates, parents or children, feel as empty of affection as utter strangers . . . times when the slightest contact becomes irksome and they long to be apart.

WHEN THESE TIMES COME, THEY SHOULD BE PERMITTED TO BE APART. AND THOSE WHO RESIST SUCH WITHDRAWALS DESERVE THE RESENTMENT THEY WILL INEVITABLY DRAW UPON THEMSELVES . . .

For no one has the right to deny another spirit its essential periods of privacy. Occasional solitude is as necessary to love as companionship—and Love can be as surely killed by smothering Togetherness as by icy Apartness.

LOVE IS AN ACT OF GRACE . . . A PACT WITH SOMETHING NOBLER THAN OUR COMMON SELVES . . . not merely the cry of one heart to another, but one of the great, enduring mysteries . . . as truly a miracle as that to which men have reverently bowed since the era began—

Plain bread and wine,
Turned suddenly divine.

So we, too,
Through this act of Grace,
May glimpse our Father's Living Face,
And, in each simple
Thing we share,
May find His glory
Waiting there!

Tabooed Words

College freshmen show far greater restraint in the use of "socially questionable" words than seniors and faculty members, declares a study of "Verbal Taboo in a College Community" in the current issue of American Speech, linguistic quarterly published by the Columbia University Press. Men are much freer in their speech than women, according to the study, which was made by Edwin R. Hunter and Bernice E. Gaines of Maryville college, Maryville, Tenn.

Faculty and Students of this co-educational college described their attitude toward sixty-two words which are frequently avoided in speech because they are considered coarse, vulgar or offensively suggestive. The aim of this survey, it was explained, was to check the current impression that the present generation of youth has no inhibitions in relation to word use.

Timely Editorial

Working for Government.

Everybody knows that taxes are high—too high. But most persons still do not quite realize how large a slice of the nation's wealth is taken in taxes. Mr. DeWitt Emery, head of the National Small Businessmen's association, in a radio address gave a singularly clear and dramatic example of the toll of taxation.

He described a business firm which had been successful for 30 years, with no labor trouble and a fine record of profitable production, but which is now in trouble as a result of taxation policies. This firm, Mr. Emery pointed out, had a gross income last year of $8,705,900. Out of that sum it paid $2,698,829 in wages and salaries, or 31 per cent. But out of that same gross income it paid $3,569,419 in taxes, or 41 per cent!

Shocking as it is, this case is not peculiar. It is all too typical. That firm had to pay out 41 per cent of its total income to government before it could begin paying the 31 per cent for wages and salaries. That does not take account of the taxes the individual workman in that factory had to pay later, which might easily be 25 per cent of his annual wage.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I had known Irving Eastman for years, but it was not until an assignment carried me over to West 54th street the other day that I met his brother Nat. They are twins. They look exactly alike, except that Irving's shirts run more to vivid hues. The Eastman boys are interior decorators. They invented a special kind of stained glass, which is used in the Rockefeller church. They design hotel bars and night clubs. They paint scenery for theatrical productions and design costumes. Now they are very much, and justly, excited over a new home they have built in Florida.

"What about it, Nat. I didn't know you were the home sort."

"Well," he replied. "Once I visited a women's penitentiary, and it has windows just like that women's penitentiary . . . Plenty of air and light but nobody can get out, or in, and they remain open even when it is raining.

"LOOK at this picture," he exclaimed, holding up a photographic vista of a house which resembled something as lavish as a motion picture director's dream. It was streamlined, with 15-foot glass windows "for more sunlight"; it had white Venetian steps leading down to the water. All the doors were operated by an electric eye . . . Even the garage had a new sort of electric eye . . . If you roll out, the doors remain open; if you roll in, they lock automatically.

"We call this house the Futura," explains Nat, who went on to describe what a really unbelievable place he and Irving have on Pine Tree drive in Miami. All the stair railings are of stainless steel, which cannot tarnish or rust. It is built of blue glass bricks, imported from Belgium . . . There is a special built-in safe in the master bedroom. And the house does exactly what we hoped it would do."

"What is that, Nat?"

"WELL," said Nat, "for some reason Florida has gone bugs over Spanish architecture. Now, Spanish architecture means rows and rows of gloomy arches, which are all right if you want to become a monk or raise mushrooms. But people go to Florida for air and sunshine. Irving and I just decided to build a house that really gives you sunshine. Plenty of sunshine, even on gray days. We built this place, modern to the last curl of the window sills."

Nat went on to explain that he was in New York "because it is Irving's turn to spend a year in Florida." They take turns, these Eastman boys, running the business from Pine Tree drive, Miami, and West 54th street, Manhattan.

About that house: it has become so publicized that now it is listed in the guide books, and tourists flock there in droves. Nat says they may sell. The Futura is their second experiment at home building. The other they called the House of Tomorrow, which was similarly anti-Spanish, and designed to filter the sunlight.

Meanwhile, Nat is slaving away and thinking ahead. Of next year. Then, as you will recall, it will be his turn to go to Florida.

Morrow County In Chicago-Washington Highway Plan

SIX PRESENT ROUTES JOINED IN PROPOSAL

Marion Congressman Submits Plan to Public Roads, War Departments.

A plan to create a straight-line, Chicago to Washington highway, that will pass through Morrow, Marion and Hardin counties, have been submitted to the United States Bureau of Public Roads and the war plans division of the War department by Congressman Brooks Fletcher of Marion, word from Washington said today.

The proposed highway is so routed that it will be most direct line of motor travel between Chicago and Washington, and will be formed by linking U. S. route 30 out of Chicago, Ohio route 95 through Marion and Mt. Gilead, Ohio U. S. 36, Ohio U. S. 21, Ohio route 258 and U. S. 40 through to the capital.

Straight-Line Route.

These routes, when joined together, form practically a straight line of travel between these key cities of America, according to Fletcher.

Such a highway, to be officially designated as the Chicago-Washington highway, will be of vast military importance in our national defense system, it was pointed out.

This new highway route, if included in the Military Priorities National Highway system, will be widened, improved and maintained by the highway departments and the federal government as a link in one of the three priority routes to be used for military defense.

The route for the proposed new highway was worked out by Walter Sautter, a resident of Morrow county and employe of the Ohio Highway department.

The new route will traverse present federal and state roads but these roads will be so improved by surfacing and eliminating of curves that motor travel will be possible at maximum speed and safety in case of military emergency.

According to the War department, in grouping the highway system and designating the highways as to first, second or third priority, the most important factor in their findings is to penetrate the most vital areas of the United States, and from a strategical standpoint to arrange the roads so as to connect these vital areas, Fletcher was advised.

An examination of the proposed new route through Marion and Mt. Gilead shows that this highway passes through a section of the country where the terrain is suitable for highway construction at a minimum cost and where the widening and elimination of dangerous curves does not present engineering difficulties, Fletcher explained.

No additional federal funds will be necessary as federal agencies will seek the co-operation of the highway departments in concentrating work on the proposed route with funds already available, and which will become available through regular channels, he said.

The program will be a long range one with two definite objectives, namely, that of providing maximum national defense first and aiding commerce second, the congressman added.

BOOK SPEAKER

LUCAS—Miss Margaret West, executive secretary of the Mansfield Y. W. C. A., will be the principal speaker at a Mothers-Daughter tea to be held in the St. Paul's church parlors here Sunday afternoon when mothers of the Lucas and Pleasant Valley Luthe an churches are honored by their daughters.

Included in the program, which is being sponsored by the Mission Study club, a young women's group, will be special musical features, a recognition of three and four generation groups present, and a memorial to the mothers who have died during the year.

HOLD BANQUET

UNITED AGAINST GAS RATE BOOST

practically the same rate the company collected under bond until 1935, when a 65-cent settlement was agreed upon.

This proposal is 14 cents per thousand higher for the 5,000-foot consumer than that submitted to the company by the utilities committee of council Monday night, and rejected by the utility.

The utilities committee, headed by Porch, and on which Croak and Hunter are members, proposed a rate that calls for 60 cents per thousand for the 5,000-foot user, 57 cents per thousand for the 7,000-foot user, and 55 cents per thousand for the 10,000-foot consumer.

Under the company's proposal, the monthly rates would be increased to 74 cents per thousand for 5,000 feet, 68½ cents for 7,000 feet, and 64½ cents for 10,000 feet.

The present ordinance, which expires May 15, sets a rate of 65 cents per thousand feet for the 5,000-foot user, 60½ cents per thousand for the 7,000-foot consumer, and 57½ cents per thousand for the 10,000-foot consumer.

Here are the statements of Mayor Hunter and members of council regarding the company's proposed rate increase:

MAYOR CLAUDE M. HUNTER—I'm surprised that the gas company would ask for an increase in rates with an ample supply of fuel right here in Richland county to meet Mansfield requirements. I most certainly will not endorse any rate higher than what we are now paying and should council approve anything higher than that I would be forced to veto the measure.

FRED MILLER Fifth Ward—I am in favor of a lower rate as proposed by council's utility committee on a short term contract. I cannot vote for anything higher than the present rate.

C. N. SHULTZ Second Ward—I'm going to stand for renewal of the present contract — nothing more.

H. M. EMMONS, At Large—I'm definitely opposed to any rate higher than what we are now paying and I will certainly vote against anything over 65 cents a thousand.

GEORGE BERG, At Large—We are paying altogether too much for our gas now. I don't know that I would vote even for a renewal of the present contract. I certainly would not vote for anything higher than what we are now paying.

LESTER D. HUNTER, Fourth Ward—The gas company's proposal is out of reason. I can't vote for anything over 65 cents. That's the limit as far as I am concerned.

ARTHUR L. Croak, Sixth Ward—I can't vote for anything over the present rate of 65 cents and the way conditions are, I say hold to a short term contract.

GEORGE C. KYLE, Third Ward—I'm not interested in any contract for higher rates than now being paid. In view of conditions in the country at large, I would be more in favor of working out a rate on a lower basis than we now have.

RUSSELL D. PORCH, First Ward—I have already stated how I stand on the issue. (Porch said a week ago he would not vote for a rate higher than we are now paying, and didn't think that any other member of council would).

COUNCIL PRESIDENT KARL P. TROLL—I feel we are paying enough for our gas now. I am opposed to any increase in rates.

200 AT SCOUT 'PARENT NIGHT'

Troop 4 Observance Held at Newman School; Arlin Gives Talk.

More than 200 parents and scouts attended the third annual "Parent Night" observance of Boy Scout Troop No. 4 last night at Newman Street school.

Guest speaker for the event was Harold W. Arlin, supervisor of industrial relations at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Arlin spoke and showed motion pictures of his trip to Europe last summer.

The observance began with a covered-dish supper and was followed by a program in the school auditorium. The invocation was given by Scout Richard Fisch. During the program the troop was presented with an American flag by the Daughters of Union Veterans. The presentation was made by Mrs. D. D. Oreweiler, and Robert Murphy and Paul Ammeter accepted the flag for the troop.

Numbers on the program included an accordion duet by John Pasheilich and his father, P. M. Pasheilich; a harmonica duet by Charles Snyder and John Pasheilich, and several vocal selections by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bellore and daughter, Mary Jane. A first aid demonstration was given by Russell Adams, Albert Filipelli, John Maurer, Joseph Gerger and Richard Fisch.

Introduction of the first Rover Boy Scout troop in the Johnny Appleseed Area was made during the program. The troop is made up of 25 former members of troop 4, all of which will continue their membership in scouting.

The purpose of the troop is to sponsor new scouts and to assist in training them in scout work. Advisor of the new troop will be Frank Stahl, assisted by L. J. Steele, scoutmaster of troop 4.

Short talks were given by Floyd Dent, area scout executive, and L. A. Ott, president of the Johnny Appleseed area. Arrangements for the program were in charge of the troop committee made up of Tracy Styert, Fred Ammeter, Arthur McMullen and Martin Bayer.

PICNIC PLANNED

BUCYRUS — Wednesday, June 15, has been set as the date of the annual county-wide American Legion picnic to be held at the fairgrounds, it was announced today by the county executive committee.

E. J. McMillen of Bucyrus has been selected general chairman of the event and the committee includes Burlen Jacobs and Lloyd Adams, Bucyrus M. V. Snyder, Crestline and Fred Barr, Galion.

STEEL WORKERS OPEN SECOND GARDEN IN WAR ON RECESSION

The Delano lodge turned to another front today in its battle against the industrial "recession" which has thrown a number of its members out of work at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company.

Donated about 30 acres of land just north of the Richland county fairgrounds, unemployed steel workers turned gardeners and, barring adverse weather conditions, were prepared to produce enough vegetables to help 65 families over the rough spots this summer.

It was the second venture of the Delano organization in co-operative gardening to help members to stay off the relief rolls. A plot of 53 acres already is under cultivation in East Mansfield under the same system.

Like the East Mansfield project, the 30-acre plot northwest of the city will be divided into small gardens, each to be tended by a family wage earner who will receive all produce from his garden, Ralph Barrett, Empire employe, said today.

The combined garden projects, totaling 83 acres, are expected to supply about 140 families with fresh vegetables this season and leave enough for canning purposes to reduce the grocery bill next winter.

Land for the second garden was donated by R. B. Gardner, Mansfield automobile dealer, and Mrs. Clemmie France. Gardner, G. L. Rogers, Mansfield truck dealer, and the Madison township trustees donated the use of tractors for plowing the land.

Work on the project near the steel plant is under the supervision of a special lodge committee headed by Melvin Adams.

Under the steel workers' self-help program, dozens of families were supplied with firewood last winter when unemployed wage earners wielded the ax and crosscut saw in woodlots near the city.

CHASE WILL IN MORROW COURT

Theatrical, Utility Magnate Leaves Estate to Wife; Home Principal Item.

MT. GILEAD—The will of the late Plimpton B. Chase, theatrical and utility magnate, filed Monday in Morrow county probate court here, bequests his estate to his wife., Anna B. Chase, who is named executrix, and indicates that the total value will not be as large as was commonly believed. No estimate is made, but an inventory will be filed within 30 days.

A principal item is the Chase estate, Beverly, at Sparta, 13 miles southeast of here, which for some time has been on sale at a reputed price of $250,000.

A paragraph in the will reads: "Having in former years distributed and completed gifts of the greater portion of my property, I desire to record here, for the information of my family, that there is little left to dispose of and administer under this will."

Mr. Chase, who with his wife spent from May 1 to election day at his estate every year, died early in April at St. Petersburg, Fla., and was buried last Saturday in a cemetery near Sparta.

PICK ENVOYS

ASHLAND — Election of delegates and alternates to the department convention of the Daughters of Union Veterans to be held in Columbus in June took place at a regular business meeting here.

The delegates named include: Mrs. William Beninghof, Mrs. Frank Drushel, Mrs. Harry Martin, Mrs. Fred Eppler, Miss Mary E. Yanders, Miss Katherine McElhenie. A Farmer's Diary

By Calvin A. Byers

THIS morning, just at dawn, I went on an errand to a distant neighbor. The sky was clear and a few stars were visible in the west. I felt the promise of a lovely day in the orange and sapphire glow of the eastern sky. The cool morning breeze blew gently and bore the fragrance of all the countryside to me—the brackish, earthy odor of the near-by swamp; the delightful, pungent fragrance of a wild crabapple tree beside an old rail fence; the degraded scent of skunk cabbage in the marsh and the damp mold of the woodland floor.

I finally reached the pasture and then the narrow, gullied lane that led to the house and barn. As the farm buildings came to view, I saw the blue curl of smoke rising high above the kitchen chimney. I caught the rare, pleasant odor of burning apple wood and as I drew near, my nostrils opened wider and my mouth began to water, for in the kitchen on the stove were sizzling several thick slices of country ham.

I rapped on the side of the open door, and the housewife turned from her stove, came forward and greeted me pleasantly. The clock on the mantel struck five bells. "I'm late with my breakfast," she apologized. "The men are about through with the chores and will soon be in. Don't you want to have some breakfast with us? (And she meant it, too.)

It took all the courage I could muster for weeks to come. I thanked her kindly, and walked slowly toward the barn.

GALION PLANT HIT BY BLAZE, HIGH LOSS SEEN

Supplies and Records of North Electric Company Damaged as Structure Burns.

GALION — Damage which will amount to several hundred dollars, was caused when fire broke out in the house adjacent and belonging to the North Electric company on South Market street.

The local fire department answered a call to the house at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday. Records and supplies belonging to the factory, are stored in the house, and it was believed that many of these might be ruined.

The shingle roof of the house, upstairs rooms and the back porch were badly burned, while smoke and water caused the most damage to other parts of the house. A new steel fence enclosing the house and factory, handicapped firemen from getting to the blaze immediately. The fence had been locked. Fire Chief Harry Kile was unable to make an estimate of the loss early this morning, but stated that the amount would be great.

It was learned that another fire within the past few days had started in the shop at the factory, but employes extinguished the blaze before any great damage was caused.

HONOR 'OLD TIMERS'

GALION — Honoring the "old timers" of Galion lodge No. 414, F. & A. M., a dinner and program was held Wednesday night at the Masonic temple.

A 50-year medal was presented to William Douglas of Southport, Ind., and the presentation was made by H. E. Cook of Bucyrus, 33-degree Mason. The evening's address was made by Rev. Bruce Young, mayor of Shelby. Flowers were presented to all of the "old timers" who were present, by W. J. Kunkel, worshipful master of the lodge. Music was provided by Charles Line and Richard Horn.

The dinner was served to 140 members.

NAMED PROFESSOR

GALION—A Galion boy, Arthur Poister, son of Theodore Poister of Harding Way West, has been appointed professor of organ at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, according to announcement this week.

Poister was a piano student of William H. Critzer and Bessie Todd of Galion, from 1907 to 1918. During the past year he was professor of organ at the University of Minnesota, and prior to that he was professor of organ and theory from 1928 to 1937 at the University of Redlands, Calif. At Sioux City, Iowa, he was director of music at the Central high school in 1924-25, and the summer terms of 1936-37.

RITES FRIDAY

BUTLER SERVICES ATTRACT CROWDS

BUTLER—Large congregations have been in attendance at the nightly services of the eight-day evangelistic campaign being conducted in the Butler Evangelical church by Miss Violet Heefner, Moody Bible Institute graduate of Des Moines, Ia., according to Rev. R. A. Krisher, pastor of the church.

In a unique "Convert Night" service Thursday night Miss Heefner will be assisted by a number of young people from a group converted during services conducted by the evangelist at Polk several months ago.

Friday evening Miss Heefner will speak on "Why We Believe Christ Must Be Coming Soon," and on Saturday evening her subject will be "Almost."

Sunday morning will feature a Mother's day observance and a missionary service.

The evangelistic campaign will close Sunday evening with a service scheduled for 7 o'clock.

INFANT GIRL BURIED

PENNSY G. O. P. SEES VICTORY CHANCES GROW

'Let Democrats Fight It Out, It's Their Mess,' Jubilant Chairman Declares.

(By Associated Press)

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Republicans, from whom the Democrats snatched Pennsylvania in 1934, saw the state's Democratic row today as "greatly improving" the chances of getting it back.

Exulted G. Edward Green, state Republican chairman:

"Our chances were very good before. We are in much better shape now. Let the Democrats fight it out. This is their mess."

Superior Court Judge Arthur H. James and Former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, rivals for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Pennsylvania's May 17 primary, agreed.

180,000 G. O. P. Margin.

Nearly complete registration figures show the Republicans, the majority party in Pennsylvania despite the 1934 defeat, outnumber Democrats by approximately 180,000.

The figures showed 2,119,22 Republicans and 1,940,021 Democrats.

Campaign charges of "bought" legislation and state employe coercion in the Democratic primary have led to a grand jury inquiry at Harrisburg and to separate investigations by the WPA and the state department of justice.

Mentioned in the charges were Gov. George H. Earle and U. S. Sen. Joseph F. Guffey.

Guffey is backing Lieut. Gov. Thomas Kennedy for governor and Eearle, who is seeking the senatorial nomination, is with the Democratic state committee behind Charles Alvin Jones of Pittsburgh. A third for the nomination for governor is Charles J. Magriotti, fired by Earle as attorney general after he insisted upon a grand jury investigation of his charges against "higher ups" in the state New Deal organization.

DEATH HELD SUICIDE

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys—How To Get Happy Relief

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

MANY SOCIAL EVENTS OCCUPY CLUB WOMEN

Suspension of Meetings Opens Way for Sports Interests, Weddings of Summer: Smaller Groups Have Sessions.

ALTHOUGH a great many study clubs have suspended activity for the summer months and Mansfield women are busily supervising house-cleaning, purchasing summer clothing for their families and planning cruises, seashore excursions, tours and camping trips, there are still numerous social events of interest. Activities at Westbrook Country club have just begun—and not officially as yet—but golfing is of great interest to many of the women members.

Then too with the approach of the bridal month, June, pre-nuptial affairs, weddings, and bridal parties of various types are of much social importance.

Many of the social clubs are continuing to conduct meetings regularly. Some which have recently met include the E. T club which had a session Tuesday at the home of Miss Ethel McClure, Stewart avenue. Mrs. Russell Harbaugh and Mrs. Harry Gates were the guests and there were 16 members present

No Road To Slimness Without Work

By VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR MISS LEE: I am 18 and weigh 168 pounds. I feel so 'out of place' among my friends because I'm always thinking that I'm so big and awkward. Everyone says that I don't show my weight, but I guess it's my imagination that I look like a monster beside anyone else.

"For one thing, I'm solid, but I have large thighs and 'tummy'. I have tried different girdles but I'm always in misery in them. I can't stand corsets. I have often seen advertisements for reducing but am afraid to try anything like that without advice from some one who knows about those things. I can't afford treatment or anything expensive. Also I don't think I could diet because I have such a good appetite and eat a lot between meals. It seems I can't quit because I get hungry. I am in very good health.

"Now what I want to know is this: Could you tell me how to reduce a few pounds, especially stomach and thighs a safe way and a sure way? I will be watching for your advice. Thank you very much. WORRIED S."

Wants Easy Reduction.

In other words, dear, you want me to tell you something that will cause that "too, too solid flesh to melt," without any sacrifice or hard work on your part. It can't be done, darling. Avoid all those advertised "sure" reducers as you would the plague. There are only two safe things for you to do—exercise and diet. I would not suggest any extreme dieting, either, for a girl of your age. You naturally have a good appetite and you should thank God for it. But you COULD cut out the between meal snacks. And right here is where your will power and your desire to be more shapely come in. You must WANT to be slimmer more than you want to eat to have any success at all, you see, dear. As long as your longing for food exceeds your wish to be slim, you will eat whenever the spirit moves and so keep your weight up.

If you really and truly want to get thinner, stop eating between meals, and cut down on sweets. Eat something of everything, good nourishing food that keeps your young body healthy, but don't stuff, and eat very little sweet stuff—cake, candy and pie. Get out and walk. Sitting around will pile flesh on your hips and abdomen. Walk a lot, do bending exercises faithfully. If you follow these rules you probably can reduce in the right places and still keep your health.

Pancakes baked on a large frying pan over the campfire are a rather hearty food when served with fruit sauce or maple syrup. Very good with plenty of hot coffee. Ingredients can be carried and quickly combined at the picnic.

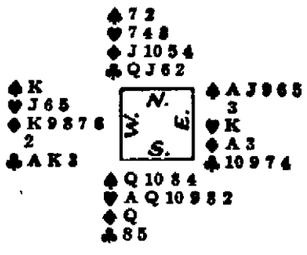
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

PULLING HIS TEETH

USING UP a declarer's trumps by making him ruff when you have a mean string of trumps is like pulling his teeth. He gets panicky as you feed your long suit to him, each time making him use up one of the magic cards that stand sentinel over your later run of your own suit's remnants. That is your objective when you have trumps bunched against him and lead your long side suit.



(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East opened the bidding with high hopes on his nice bunch of spades, but later repented the subsequent developments. South overcalled with two hearts. West bid three-diamonds, East three-spades. West four-diamonds and East four spades, which South decided to double.

Mr. South in this case was an astute defender, Stuyvesant Wainwright of the Racquet and Tennis club in New York, who knew that a long side suit is devastating when you hold a good bunch of trumps. He unhesitatingly led the ace from his heart tenace and was pleased to see the king drop. Next came his heart queen, which got trumped. The spade king was the third trick, the diamond ace made the fourth and the spade ace the fifth.

East next offered his spade jack to the queen. Mr. Wainwright now led into the good jack of hearts in the dummy, ruffed the diamond king, then offered another heart. This ruff left the declarer only one trump, not enough to ruff up his diamond suit, so he had to lose a club trick at the end. It is interesting to figure out the variation in the defense if East fed back diamonds to South after ruffing hearts.

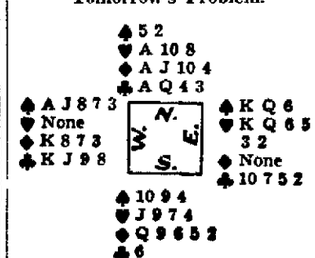
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable).

If West bids one-spade here, North doubles, South two-hearts, West two-spades, East three-spades and West four, would you double in the North and, if so, what would you lead?

Exercises For Hands That Are Lovely

By JULIET SHELBY.
(Central Press Writer on Beauty)

LYNN FONTANNE, who is one of the foremost actresses of our time, is noted for her beautiful, expressive hands. With one slight gesture she can portray her feelings and emotions. Just as her hands entrance audiences and add immeasurably to her charm, so do our hands either attract or repel. Hands should be alluring and graceful. They should enhance our charm by making our slightest act a beautiful one.

This may sound like a very hard habit to gain, especially if you have gone through life without giving a thought to hand posture. But if you will give yourself a few hand exercises every day you will be surprised at how soon your hands will unconsciously fall into naturally graceful poses. Also, it's a good idea to start your children or younger sisters on the right track by teaching them early in life to use their hands properly.

They shouldn't start out by making fluttery, awkward movements, nor should they go in for those over refined elegancies of stiffly crooked little fingers or affected motions. And one of the most important things of all is to teach them to shake hands in a firm, poised manner.

These simple hand exercises will really give young or mature hands a new flexibility and expressiveness. Start by clinching your hands firmly. Fling the fingers open. Do this ten times with each hand.

Move your fingers as if you were playing an imaginary five-finger exercise on the piano. Continue this for two minutes.

Touch your thumb to your little finger. Then stretch your fingers as far open as possible. Touch your thumb to the fourth finger, open the hand and continue this until each finger has been touched. Repeat this three times.

Shake Hands Hard.

Place the fingers of the right hand on the back of the left hand and draw firmly across from one side to the other. Repeat with your right hand. Continue this movement for at least three minutes.

Last of all, shake your hands as hard as you can. Then fling them out palms up. If you have really relaxed them, they will fall into a natural attractive position.

If you have that embarrassing problem of perspiring palms, use a preparation that controls perspiration. There are many on the market that can be used.

Even though you won't be a Fontanne or a Duse over night, still you will be amazed at how self-possessed you will be when you have gotten over wanting to sit on your hands.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, May 6.

According to the lunar positions on this day, there should be a very interesting if perplexing state of affairs. There are signs of secret, subtle, shrewd and elusive conditions to cope with, using corresponding diplomacy, craft or even intrigue or collusion. Unexpected change or travel may prove advantageous if cautiously managed. Elders may be depended upon for advice and support in possible dubious situations. Sidestep disputes and rashness.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which rather intriguing, perplexing or subtle situations may call for much caution, wisdom and careful management, in order to escape doubtful issues and singular entanglements. Consult elders in such circumstances. Sudden change or travel may result in satisfaction and unforseen benefits, but do not act impetuously.

A child born on this day may be industrious and trustworthy, despite a tendency to be restless and eternally moving about, seeking fresh fields of adventure. It may have much originality, ingenuity and may be personally likeable and popular. Elders are its benefactors.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

IT WOULD be difficult for a hard-hearted person to resist Mary when she says, "Please Darling!" accompanying the words with a wistfully-appealing smile. As I am not naturally hard-hearted — indeed, as far as Mary is concerned, my heart is "soft as butter"—I found it utterly impossible to deny her request to postpone my decision upon her as yet unnamed plan until later in the week.

I had a shrewd idea of what the impetuous girl was planning, and as Lillian expressively puts it, "my neck hackles were rising" at the thought. Common sense told me that I must refuse to participate in her hare-brained scheme, or even to countenance it.

Welcomes Reprieve.

Meanwhile, I welcomed the reprieve she had given me. I need decide nothing now. Anything might happen in a week, I told myself, and then shuddered involuntarily as the possibilities evolved by my thought flashed before me.

"Of course I'll reserve judgment until you tell me what your plan is," I told her. "But don't lean too heavily upon my agreeing to it. There are things I can do, and other things I can't."

"Isn't there a Bible verse about 'Sufficient unto the day is the evil therof'?" she answered pertly.

"Yes, and there's another one which says, 'Man goeth forth unto his work, and to his labor until the evening'," I retorted, and Mary laughed with a note of apology in the laughter.

"Touche!" she exclaimed. "I'll get down to work this minute. How are we going about it? I do hope you're going to do the one thing which can set me on the right track.

Asks Her To Play It.

"What is that?" I asked, although I guessed her meaning.

"Won't you go through the role as you would play it yourself, and let me watch you without interrupting you once?" she said pleadingly. "Then I could get an idea of what it's all about, and when I started reading it back to you, I could snap out of the shackles my father-in-law put on the wrists and ankles of my spirit. How's that for a figure of speech?"

"I'd hate to tell you," I said smiling. "But as it happens, I am going to do exactly what you have just outlined. I do not know any other way that I can show you my idea of the role. So if you'll play audience, I'll make my entrance from the bedroom yonder, and go on from there."

Mary clapped her hands softly.

Mary Is Pleased.

"Oh! this is wonderful!" she said fervently, and I noted with wondering pride that there was not the slightest sign of envy or disappointment in her voice. Was there another young actress in the world, I wondered, who could have thus acquiesced so whole-heartedly in a plan that gave her no chance to interpret her own role in her own way?

As I walked to the door which was to be my first entrance, I found myself almost choking with the determination to put forth every ounce of skill and strength I possessed in the effort to thwart Philip Veritzen's dastardly scheme, and register a distinct dramatic triumph for Dicky's gifted and gallant niece. And when I turned and came into the room, it was as if my resolution had kindled my spirit to a flame. The possibilities of the role I had written rushed over me like a flood, and for the next hour I was not myself, but the heroine I had created.

Mary Cues Her.

Mary cued me as I had cued her in the rendition of the role as taught her by Philip Veritzen, which she had just finished rehearsing. Some subconscious sense made me return my lines with no loss of timing, but I have no recollection of seeing her in the room, was not consciously aware of her presence until, as I neared the end, I heard a gasping sob, and saw my husband's niece coming toward me, hands outstretched and tears streaming down her lovely face.

"Oh! Auntie Madge!" she wailed. "If I could only act like that! But I never can do it in a thousand years."

Today's Recipes.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE—Two egg yolks, one-third teaspoon salt, dash paprika, one-third cup boiling water, two tablespoons lemon juice, one-third cup salad oil or four tablespoons butter. Beat egg yolks slightly and add all but lemon juice. Cook until thickened. Take from fire and add lemon.

SPICED FRUIT IN SALAD

Add spiced pears, peaches, apricots or peaches to gelatin and serve the combination as a salad to accompany veal, pork or ham. The spiced flavor makes a tasty complement for the meats.

If mayonnaise curdles in the making, add a few drops of cold water to the curdled mixture.

The Diagram Shows How.

You're covered with moss — hoary with age—if you don't shag and do the Big Apple.

To stiffen white organdy, rinse in a strong solution of salt water. Iron while damp.

Some garden-makers like to use a dibber, which is merely a pointed stick, when planting gladiolus bulbs because in that way they can plant more rapidly. When this tool is used, one simply thrusts it into the ground, drops the bulb in place, covers it with the foot, and repeat the operation. There is some danger, however, that the bulbs will remain hung halfway to the bottom of the hole, with an air pocket underneath. If this happens, the bulb will be almost certain to rot. A dibber may be used successfully if it is large enough so that the hole it makes will accommodate the largest bulbs.

Shopping with Wynnie Wynchel

If you're planning an active Summer (and who isn't?) . . . be sure the man of the house has a good supply of cool, lightweight sport clothes. Send him, or take him, to GOLDSMITHS and let him Choose to his heart's content. He can't go wrong, despite the variety of styles, colors and materials, because GOLDSMITH'S is always fashion-right. I heard one Mansfield man-about-town say, "Esquire (the men's fashion mag) could be a catalogue for Goldsmith's." He was just about right. They surely have the last word in men's wear and at sensible prices, too! Cool polo shirts for summer lounging are $1 up to $2.95. With wash slack you can be economical at $1.50 a pair or shoot the works for a pair of Palm Beach trousers at $5.50. They have a new light weight "Bush" coat in "Thirsty cloth" at $3.50 . . . a white coat with all the pockets and buttons and belts of the heavier style that has caught the male fancy so decidedly. Don't be afraid of buying too heavily in Sport clothes because they are acceptable for just about every occasion during the Summer, and oh so comfortable! Nothing makes a man bad company more than too heavy clothing, so take out fun-insurance for yourself, Mrs., by seeing his wardrobe is plentifully supplied with light, comfortable sport clothes!

Not forgetting practical gifts for Mother's Day, I snooped at the woman's hardware store—MARTIN'S HARDWARE and found some fine Pyrex coffee makers that would make excellent gifts. The large clear coffee maker is $3.50. That is the very latest in aids to a perfect cup of coffee. A smart-looking Pyrex tea pot with silver bands decorating it will cost you only $1.95, and a small pot that looks as if it wouldn't hold more than 2 good sized cups of tea is priced at $1. A six-cup Pyrex crystal percolator with glass handle will cost you only $1.79 and it makes a most attractive gift.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Suspension of Meetings Opens Way for Sports Interests, Weddings of Summer: Smaller Groups Have Sessions.

ALTHOUGH a great many study clubs have suspended activity for the summer months and Mansfield women are busily supervising house-cleaning, purchasing summer clothing for their families and planning cruises, seashore excursions, tours and camping trips, there are still numerous social events of interest. Activities at Westbrook Country club have just begun—and not officially as yet—but golfing is of great interest to many of the women members

Then too with the approach of the bridal month, June, pre-nuptial affairs, weddings, and bridal parties of various types are of much social importance

Many of the social clubs are continuing to conduct meetings regularly. Some which have recently met include the E T club which had a session Tuesday at the home of Miss Ethel McClure, Stewart avenue. Mrs. Russell Harbaugh and Mrs. Harry Gates were the guests and there were 16 members present.

SINGERS CLUB TO BE HEARD OVER NETWORK

Group Receives Invitation to Appear May 14 for Mutual Broadcasting Company; Cleveland Station Host.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made this morning by Mrs. Walter T. (Edith Fletcher) Jameson that the Singers club, of which she is organizer and director, has been invited to broadcast over a national network of the Mutual Broadcasting company through WHK in Cleveland. The program will be presented May 14 between 6 and 6:30 p. m. and will be heard over all of the Mutual network.

The club appeared for the first time in public recital last April 19 at the Mansfield-Leland hotel when Mrs. Jameson offered a program with Miss Irene Beamer as guest soloist. Mrs. Jameson was once chorus director of WHK when that station was affiliated with the Columbia Broadcasting company. The group will not audition for its appearance.

There are 36 members in the club which is accompanied by Mrs. David S. (Elsie) Ireland, and 30 members will make the trip to Cleveland for the broadcast.

Members of the club are Mrs. Claude Ewing, Mrs. C. D. Cooper, Mrs. P. W. Johnston, Mrs. Emory Smith, Miss Thelma Reed, Mrs. C. C. Walker, Mrs. Lawrence Bergstrom, Mrs. C. E. Reese, Mrs. E. Carson Brower, Miss Ruth Leighley, Mrs. F. M Wadsworth, Mrs. R. M. McConoughy, Miss Bertha Beck, Mrs. C B Piatt, Miss Harriet Johnston, Mrs Vera Hughes, Mrs. Giles Hamilton, Mrs Paul Early, Miss Elaine Fox, Mrs Fred Jones, Miss Eunice Neff, Miss Mary Jane Bellore, Mrs. Elmer Bradford, Miss Minnie Laudon, Miss Doris Ranck, Miss Mary Dobenspeck, Mrs. A. C. Butterfield, Mrs. Clora Balliett Elder, Mrs. M. Moore.

Report Welfare Work At Meeting of Class

A report of welfare work done for a needy family at Easter time was given at the meeting of the Neighborhood Bible club by Mrs. G B. Gymer. Mrs. C. L. Willsey, 111 Brinkerhoff avenue, was hostess and the business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Jay Swigart.

The study of the book of Genesis was continued with Mrs. D. W. Cummins in charge. She was assisted by Mrs. Paul Baird, Mrs. J. E Smith, Mrs. George Hoover, Mrs Swigart and Mrs. Gymer. The final meeting of the year will be a dessert-luncheon at the Women's club. The date will be announced later.

No Road To Slimness Without Work

By VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR MISS LEE: I am 18 and weigh 168 pounds. I feel so 'out of place' among my friends because I'm always thinking that I'm so big and awkward. Everyone says that I don't show my weight, but I guess it's my imagination that I look like a monster beside anyone else.

"For one thing, I'm solid, but I have large thighs and 'tummy'. I have tried different girdles but I'm always in misery in them. I can't stand corsets. I have often seen advertisements for reducing but am afraid to try anything like that without advice from some one who knows about those things I can't afford treatment or anything expensive. Also I don't think I could diet because I have such a good appetite and eat a lot between meals. It seems I can't quit because I get hungry. I am in very good health.

"Now what I want to know is this: Could you tell me how to reduce a few pounds, especially stomach and thighs, a safe way and a sure way? I will be watching for your advice Thank you very much WORRIED S."

Wants Easy Reduction.

In other words, dear, you want me to tell you something that will cause that "too, too solid flesh to melt," without any sacrifice or hard work on your part It can't be done, darling Avoid all those advertised "cure" reducers as you would the plague. There are only two safe things for you to do—exercise and diet. I would not suggest any extreme dieting, either, for a girl of your age. You naturally have a good appetite and you should thank God for it. But you COULD cut out the between meal snacks And right here is where your will power and your desire to be more shapely come in You must WANT to be slimmer more than you want to eat to have any success at all, you see, dear. As long as your longing for food exceeds your wish to be slim, you will eat whenever the spirit moves and so keep your weight up.

If you really and truly want to get thinner, stop eating between meals, and cut down on sweets. Eat something of everything, good nourishing food that keeps your young body healthy, but don't stuff, and eat very little sweet stuff—cake, candy and pie Get out and walk. Sitting around will pile flesh on your hips and abdomen. Walk a lot, do bending exercises faithfully. If you follow these rules you probably can reduce in the right places and still keep your health.

Pancakes baked on a large frying pan over the campfire are a rather hearty food when served with fruit sauce or maple syrup. Very good with plenty of hot coffee. Ingredients can be carried and quickly combined at the picnic

By Shepard Barclay

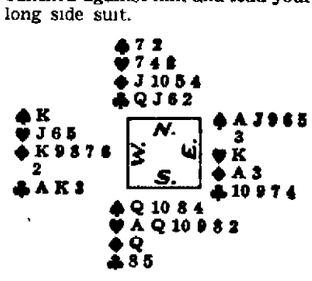
PULLING HIS TEETH

USING UP a declarer's trumps by making him ruff when you have a mean string of trumps is like pulling his teeth. He gets panicky as you feed your long suit to him, each time making him use up one of the magic cards that stand sentinel over your later run of your own suit's remnants. That is your objective when you have trumps bunched against him and lead your long side suit.



(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East opened the bidding with high hopes on his nice bunch of spades, but later repented the subsequent developments. South overcalled with two hearts. West bid three-diamonds, East three-spades West four-diamonds and East four spades, which South decided to double.

Mr. South in this case was an astute defender, Stuyvesant Wainwright of the Racquet and Tennis club in New York, who knew that a long side suit is devastating when you hold a good bunch of trumps. He unhesitatingly led the ace from his heart tenace and was pleased to see the king drop. Next came his heart queen, which got trumped. The spade king was the third trick, the diamond ace made the fourth and the spade ace the fifth.

East next offered his spade jack to the queen. Mr. Wainwright now led into the good jack of hearts in the dummy, ruffed the diamond king, then offered another heart. This ruff left the declarer only one trump, not enough to ruff up his diamond suit, so he had to lose a club trick at the end. It is interesting to figure out the variation in the defense if East fed back diamonds to South after ruffing hearts.

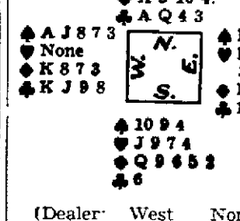
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer West North-South vulnerable).

If West bids one-spade here, North doubles, South two-hearts, West two-spades, East three-spades and West four, would you double in the North and, if so, what would you lead?

Exercises For Hands That Are Lovely

By JULIET SHELBY.
(Central Press Writer on Beauty)

LYNN FONTANNE, who is one of the foremost actresses of our time, is noted for her beautiful, expressive hands. With one slight gesture she can portray her feelings and emotions. Just as her hands entrance audiences and add immeasurably to her charm, so do our hands either attract or repel. Hands should be alluring and graceful. They should enhance our charm by making our slightest act a beautiful one.

This may sound like a very hard habit to gain, especially if you have gone through life without giving a thought to hand posture. But if you will give yourself a few hand exercises every day you will be surprised at how soon your hands will unconsciously fall into naturally graceful poses. Also, it's a good idea to start your children or younger sisters on the right track by teaching them early in life to use their hands properly

They shouldn't start out by making fluttery, awkward movements, nor should they go in for those over refined elegancies of stiffly crooked little fingers or affected motions. And one of the most important things of all is to teach them to shake hands in a firm, poised manner

These simple hand exercises will really give young or mature hands a new flexibility and expressiveness. Start by clinching your hands firmly. Fling the fingers open. Do this ten times with each hand.

Move your fingers as if you were playing an imaginary five-finger exercise on the piano. Continue this for two minutes.

Touch your thumb to your little finger Then stretch your fingers as far open as possible. Touch your thumb to the fourth finger, open the hand and continue this until each finger has been touched. Repeat this three times.

Shake Hands Hard.

Place the fingers of the right hand on the back of the left hand and draw firmly across from one side to the other Repeat with your right hand. Continue this movement for at least three minutes

Last of all, shake your hands as hard as you can. Then fling them out palms up If you have really relaxed them, they will fall into a natural attractive position.

If you have that embarrassing problem of perspiring palms, use a preparation that controls perspiration. There are many on the market that can be used.

Even though you won't be a Fontanne or a Duse over night, still you will be amazed at how self-possessed you will be when you have gotten over wanting to sit on your hands.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, May 6.

According to the lunar positions on this day, there should be a very interesting if perplexing state of affairs. There are signs of secret, subtle, shrewd and elusive conditions to cope with, using corresponding diplomacy, craft or even intrigue or collusion. Unexpected change or travel may prove advantageous if cautiously managed Elders may be depended upon for advice and support in possible dubious situations. Sidestep disputes and rashness.

If This If Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which rather intriguing, perplexing or subtle situations may call for much caution, wisdom and careful management, in order to escape doubtful issues and singular entanglements. Consult elders in such circumstances. Sudden change or travel may result in satisfaction and unforseen benefits, but do not act impetuously.

A child born on this day may be industrious and trustworthy, despite a tendency to be restless and eternally moving about, seeking fresh fields of adventure. It may have much originality, ingenuity and may be personally likeable and popular. Elders are its benefactors

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

IT WOULD be difficult for a hard-hearted person to resist Mary when she says, "Please Darling!" accompanying the words with a wistfully-appealing smile. As I am not naturally hard-hearted — indeed, as far as Mary is concerned, my heart is "soft as butter"—I found it utterly impossible to deny her request to postpone my decision upon her as yet unnamed plan until later in the week.

I had a shrewd idea of what the impetuous girl was planning, and as Lillian expressively puts it, "my neck hackles were rising" at the thought. Common sense told me that I must refuse to participate in her hare-brained scheme, or even to countenance it.

Welcomes Reprieve.

Meanwhile, I welcomed the reprieve she had given me. I need decide nothing now. Anything might happen in a week, I told myself, and then shuddered involuntarily as the possibilities evolved by my thought flashed before me.

"Of course I'll reserve judgment until you tell me what your plan is," I told her. "But don't lean too heavily upon my agreeing to it. There are things I can do, and other things I can't."

"Isn't there a Bible verse about 'Sufficient unto the day is the evil therof'?" she answered pertly.

"Yes, and there's another one which says, 'Man goeth forth unto his work, and to his labor until the evening'," I retorted, and Mary laughed with a note of apology in the laughter.

"Touche!" she exclaimed. "I'll get down to work this minute. How are we going about it? I do hope you're going to do the one thing which can set me on the right track.

Asks Her To Play It.

"What is that?" I asked, although I guessed her meaning.

"Won't you go through the role as you would play it yourself, and let me watch you without interrupting you once?" she said pleadingly. "Then I could get an idea of what it's all about, and when I started reading it back to you, I could snap out of the shackles my father-in-law put on the wrists and ankles of my spirit. How's that for a figure of speech?"

"I'd hate to tell you," I said smiling. "But as it happens, I am going to do exactly what you have just outlined. I do not know any other way that I can show you my idea of the role. So if you'll play audience, I'll make my entrance from the bedroom yonder, and go on from there."

Mary clapped her hands softly.

Mary Is Pleased.

"Oh! this is wonderful!" she said fervently, and I noted with wondering pride that there was not the slightest sign of envy or disappointment in her voice. Was there another young actress in the world, I wondered, who could have thus acquiesced so whole-heartedly in a plan that gave her no chance to interpret her own role in her own way?

As I walked to the door which was to be my first entrance, I found myself almost choking with the determination to put forth every ounce of skill and strength I possessed in the effort to thwart Philip Veritzen's dastardly scheme, and register a distinct dramatic triumph for Dicky's gifted and gallant niece. And when I turned and came into the room, it was as if my resolution had kindled my spirit to a flame. The possibilities of the role I had written rushed over me like a flood, and for the next hour I was not myself, but the heroine I had created.

Mary Cues Her.

Mary cued me as I had cued her in the rendition of the role as taught her by Philip Veritzen, which she had just finished rehearsing Some subconscious sense made me return my lines with no loss of timing, but I have no recollection of seeing her in the room, was not consciously aware of her presence until, as I neared the end, I heard a gasping sob, and saw my husband's niece coming toward me, hands outstretched and tears streaming down her lovely face.

"Oh! Auntie Madge!" she wailed. "If I could only act like that! But I never can do it in a thousand years"

Today's Recipes.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE—Two egg yolks one-third teaspoon salt, dash paprika, one-third cup boiling water, two tablespoons lemon juice, one-third cup salad oil or four tablespoons butter. Beat egg yolks slightly and add all but lemon juice. Cook until thickened. Take from fire and add lemon.

SPICED FRUIT IN SALAD

Add spiced pears, peaches, apricots or peaches to gelatin and serve the combination as a salad to accompany veal, pork or ham The spiced flavor makes a tasty complement for the meats.

If mayonnaise curdles in the making, add a few drops of cold water to the curdled mixture.

Some garden-makers like to use a dibber which is merely a pointed stick, when planting gladiolus bulbs because in that way they can plant more rapidly. When this tool is used, one simply thrusts it into the ground, drops the bulb in place, covers it with the foot, and repeat the operation. There is some danger, however, that the bulbs will remain hung halfway to the bottom of the hole, with an air pocket underneath. If this happens, the bulb will be almost certain to rot A dibber may be used successfully if it is large enough so that the hole it makes will accommodate the largest bulbs.

If you're planning an active Summer (and who isn't?) . . . be sure the man of the house has a good supply of cool, lightweight sport clothes. Send him, or take him, to GOLDSMITHS and let him Choose to his heart's content. He can't go wrong, despite the variety of styles, colors and materials, because GOLDSMITH'S is always fashion-right. I heard one Mansfield man-about-town say, "Esquire (the men's fashion mag) could be a catalogue for Goldsmith's" He was just about right. They surely have the last word in men's wear and at sensible prices, too! Cool polo shirts for summer lounging are $1 up to $2.95 .With wash slack you can be economical at $1.50 a pair or shoot the works for a pair of Palm Beach trousers at $5 50 They have a new light weight "Bush" coat in "Thirsty cloth" at $3.50 . . . a white coat with all the pockets and buttons and belts of the heavier style that has caught the male fancy so decidedly. Don't be afraid of buying too heavily in Sport clothes because they are acceptable for just about every occasion during the Summer, and oh so comfortable! Nothing makes a man bad company more than too heavy clothing, so take out fun-insurance for yourself, Mrs., by seeing his wardrobe is plentifully supplied with light, comfortable sport clothes!

PUZZLED JAPS SEEK TO STEM CHINESE PUSH

Invoke National Mobilization Law in Attempt to Stop Stubborn Foes.

(By Associated Press)

Japan's warmakers today invoked part of the Fascist-style national mobilization law in an effort to crush the rising power of China—a power which hourly threatened to wipe out the second of Japan's major offensives in southern Shantung province

Certain sections of the law were promulgated today, possibly an opening wedge for use of the entire measure to draft Japan's manpower and economic resources.

On the other side of the world, at Naples, Reichsfuehrer Hitler was shown a vast panorama of Italian power for naval warfare—one of four spectacles arranged by Premier Mussolini to demonstrate Italy's strength as a partner in the Rome-Berlin axis

Silent on 'Alliance.'

Spokesmen for Italy and Germany, partners with Japan against international communism, would not say how close Mussolini and his guest might come to making a military alliance, despite the many months of co-operation between their general staffs

The two Fascist dictators thus far were reported to have talked only of Hitler's appetite for colonies, with Hitler doing most of the talking to explain his colonial ambitions. Whether the visitors would broach the question of including Czechoslovakia's Sudeten Germans in his broadened realm remained to be seen.

Taken for granted was the likelihood that a reiteration of the German-Italian anti-communism stand with Japan would be one of the concluding items of Hitler's week in Italy, ending next Tuesday.

In the Spanish civil war, the insurgents with mud still caking the wheels of their motorized equipment, struck at the ends and middle of a curving front for Teruel to the Mediterranean to widen the gap between Catalonia and the rest of government Spain

Insurgent dispatches said the government lines were broken in the center and to the east while gains on the western flank were being consolidated

Clubs To Sponsor Corn Competition In Morrow County

MT. GILEAD—F. O. Van Sickle, president of the newly organized Cardington Rotary club, has announced that the group will cooperate with the county extension office and the Mt Gilead Kiwanis club in sponsoring the 100-bushel corn club which has been launched here.

Any boy under 21 years of age is eligible to compete in the county for club honors for raising the greatest amount of corn on a measured acre Entry blanks may be secured through the extension office and may be mailed to the officers of the co-operating organizations or directly to the office No entries will be accepted after May 15

Winners in the contest will be given free trips to Washington, D. C., next fall. The sponsors are guaranteeing a certain number of trips and if more qualify for raising 110 bushels on a measured acre, those having the highest yield will receive the awards.

since then. He was also a director of the National Manufacturers' association.

Operator of a dairy farm near here, Mr. Michael was a nationally known Jersey cattle buyer, was a director of the American Jersey Cattle Congress and a past president of the Ohio Jersey Cattle association

Mr. Michael was appointed to the state agriculture advisory board by Gov. Martin L. Davey in 1935, and last year served as chairman of the national dairy show in Columbus. He had been named to the post again this year.

He was noted for his philanthropies, and one of his chief beneficiaries was the Bucyrus hospital.

The manufacturer was a member of the Bucyrus building commission and civil service commission.

A Republican, he was a candidate for state senator from this district four years ago

Surviving are his wife and two sons, Walter and Charles A. Michael, both of whom were associated with him in his various enterprises here

BIKE RIDER HURT

Simpson Student Injured In Mishap Near School.

Thomas Rollins, 14, of 49 Woodland avenue, escaped serious injury yesterday when the bicycle he was riding collided with a truck on North Bowman street.

Police said young Rollins, a student of John Simpson Junior high school, had ridden out of the driveway at the school and struck the side of the truck operated by Jacob Henke, 370 Second avenue. The youth was taken to the hospital in an ambulance where he was treated for cuts and bruises.

SMITH POINTS TO CHARITY TAX

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND—Increased taxation today was presented by Alfred E. Smith as the only alternative to private charity.

Speaking at a preparation banquet for the annual fund drive of the Catholic Charities corporation in northern Ohio, the 1928 presidential candidate said that government relief could be increased only through higher taxes that would affect everyone.

"One of the things that you are going to meet most often in this campaign," Smith told 1,200 campaigners, "is the confusion in the public mind. The confusion results from the belief that the government is taking care of everybody...

"The government is taking care of the unemployed, yes, and that's a help. But the government is not taking care of the sick, of the wayward, of the orphans. Government charity is, because of its nature, cold...

"I'll tell you what the alternative (to private charity) is. It's taxation, and if you can bear more of that you are a glutton for punishment.

"More taxation means an additional burden on corporations, on partnerships, on businesses, on home owners and on tenants. Get the last part, on tenants. Most tenants don't believe they pay taxes because they never see a tax bill."

GIRL DIES, THREE HURT IN BLAZE

Three Children Rescued as Fire Sweeps Dwelling.

MIDDLETOWN—(AP)—An eight-year-old girl burned to death, one of three injured victims was in serious condition and three other children were rescued today when fire destroyed the home of George Smith in nearby Franklin.

The body of Elsie Smith was recovered by firemen about dawn, after ashes of the frame structure had cooled. George Smith, jr., 10, was burned critically and physicians at a hospital said his recovery was doubtful.

Smith suffered a severe back injury and burns and his wife was treated for lacerations.

WIDOW VICTOR IN CLAIM SUIT

Jury Rules Death of Husband Gives Her Right to State Industrial Compensation.

The right to participate in state industrial compensation for the death of her husband four years ago was won yesterday by Mrs. Annie Lucas, Mansfield, in common pleas court.

A verdict for Mrs. Lucas was returned by the petit jury after a hearing on the case which extended into the second day.

Contending that her husband, Henry Lucas, died as the result of an accident while he was employed at the Humphryes Manufacturing company, Mrs. Lucas filed her suit after the industrial commission rejected her claim.

The commission, represented by Atty. John Rossetti, assistant attorney general, immediately filed a motion for a new trial.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Violet Murst, who lost her court fight for compensation for the death of her husband, William F Murst, five years ago, today had filed a notice of appeal to the Fifth district court of appeals. The Murst case was heard Monday by the petit jury which returned a verdict for the industrial commission.

The appeal notice was filed by Attys. Copperman, DeBard, and Greenwood of Cleveland, who represented her at the trial.

BUY FIRE TRUCK

Equipment Being Placed on New Vehicle at Butler.

PERRYSVILLE—A fire truck, recently purchased by the village of Perrysville, will be ready for fire-fighting service before the week is over, according to Clayton Mann, local fire chief.

All fire-fighting equipment now owned by the village will be transferred from the hand-drawn carts to the truck, which is equipped with a modern chemical pumping tank.

The fire truck will be housed in the town hall, which is undergoing some extensive alterations in order to accommodate the new apparatus.

A new pick-up truck, for use by the village street and water department, was recently purchased.

WE REPEALED A NATURAL LAW TO GIVE YOU MOTOR SAFETY!

SOHIO'S high "V. I." combines the fast flow of "Light" oil with the heat resistance of "Heavy" oil!

Scientists prove its greater protection and economy in crucial "V. I." test; is Ohioans' first choice for long-lasting lubrication . . .

We've gone nature "one better!" Under a patented process we've created an oil that actually resists thickening when cold—that won't thin out like butter when hot. Your motor is safer whatever the temperature.

Feel SOHIO Motor Oil in your fingers when it's poured from the can. It's as "runny" as a light oil. That means you get fast oil circulation—greater protection for your high-speed motor.

Then—when your motor is hot, pull out the oil gauge and feel the oil again. Notice it is rich and full-bodied—that it hasn't thinned out like ordinary oil! That means your motor is safer from heat; that the oil will last longer and save you money!

This amazing resistance to motor temperatures is the greatest protective quality an oil can have. Scientists measure this "safety-factor" with the famous "V. I." test. They know the higher the "V. I.," the better the oil, the better mileage it gives, the better it protects.

In the important "V. I." test, SOHIO Motor Oil has one of the highest safety ratings in the world today. And you pay only 25¢ a quart. You not only pay less—you use less oil, too, because of its low consumption. So, next time, make it SOHIO—the motor oil Ohio prefers above all others regardless of price!

It's a Man's World

So These Women Carry On In Masculine Jobs

SHE DIGS GRAVES

Mrs. Emma Wear of Lancaster, Pa., is 70. "If I couldn't work I wouldn't care about living," she says. So she digs graves. She has been doing it for 15 years. In addition, she farms 10 acres of her own. She is shown pausing in the day's occupation.

SHE SELLS COAL

Mrs. Libbie E. Roth of East St. Louis, Ill., comes from a coal-selling family—her father owned a coal mine, her brothers were coal dealers. A widow, she has run a coal yard for 22 years, says "there's nothing a woman cannot do, if she wants to."

SHE CALLS ALL CARS

Mrs. Pearl Diamiano qualified recently as a police radio operator and dispatcher at Piedmont, Calif. She thinks she is the third woman in the country to fill such a post. Employed in the police department, she spent two years studying for new job.

SHE MENDS VIOLINS

Mrs. Mays Badgett of Atlanta, Ga., became a violin repairer when her husband died. She had been a dress designer. "I didn't know the names of the fiddle fixing tools," she says, "but I had seen Mays use them so much that I knew what they were for."

SHE'S BEEN WORKIN' ON THE RAILROAD

For 16 years, Miss Ruth Eley has filled tough assignments at the Dallas, Tex., roundhouse. She knows the railroad men's language and technique and can throttle a locomotive with the skill of a veteran. "It's a man's job," she says, "but I like it."

ASSERTS SUNDAY SCHOOL HELPS TO KEEP MARRIAGE KNOT TIED

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—If you want to be happy though married keep on going to Sunday school.

But for heaven's sake don't get tangled up with a traveling salesman there. And a musician isn't much better.

Such was the core of the lore of springtime laid down by Prof. Ernest Burgess, University of Chicago sociologist. Explaining the results of his study of 526 married couples Professor Burgess said:

If the boy or girl lasts through Sunday school until he or she is 10 years old, it is a good sign. Attendance until 18 makes one a better risk, but if you're still going when married everything is sure to be hunky-dory.

About the traveling salesmen, Prof. Burgess found they make husbands he would hesitate to recommend. The same thing is true of a musician. To be really happy he suggests choosing a mate from your own social life and then:

Live in a community of 200,000 population or less.

Save money.

Don't move or change jobs often.

Join at least three organizations.

Infatuation doesn't necessarily lead to happiness, he said. A courtship of three to five years is the best, but an engagement lasting only a year will do.

A minister and a singer should make contented couple, but girls who never have worked don't prove as good wives as those who have held a job.

NEW BUILDING IN CITY KEEPS PACE WITH '37

Valuations Total $276,000 for First 4 Months, Only $3,000 Under Last Year.

Despite the recession in business, Mansfield's new building operations during the first four month of 1938 kept pace with the same period last year, building permit records showed today.

Total valuation of all construction work during the period was $276,170, only $3,000 less than the figure for the first four months of last year.

While the number of new homes under construction is eight less than last year, valuations in new home construction for the four-month period dropped more than $12,000.

A total of 24 new residences have been built this year at the estimated cost of $177,800, as compared with the 32 residences constructed in 1937 at a cost of $190,400

Total Includes All Projects.

The total for all building projects for the four-month period in 1937, including remodeling, alterations, additions, residential, business and industrial construction, was valued at $279,603 as compared with $276,170 for the same period last year.

April building valuations totaled $113,334, a drop of nearly $50,000 from the March figures and approximately $20 000 under the figures for April, 1937

Twelve residential permits were issued in April as compared with seven for March

In the past month, residential construction was paced by the construction of two new apartment buildings with the estimated valuation of $12 000 for each.

May building construction got off to healthy start yesterday with issuance of building permits for four new homes with a total estimated valuation of $18,400.

The permits went to Tracy Charles, 255 Davis road for a two-story brick residence at the cost of $6,800; Miss Frances Keane, 630 Arlington street for a brick home valued at $6 000, O. C. Wittmer, rear of 394 South Main street for a new home costing $3,000 and Nick Litzler, 420 Central avenue, a frame residence for $2,600.

SEES 'WETTEST' PERIOD IN OHIO RIVER SECTION

(By Associated Press)

BOWLING GREEN—Dr. Edwin Lincoln Moseley, professor emeritus of biology at Bowling Green State university, predicted today that the Ohio River drainage area was entering what will prove the 'wettest" period in the 20th century.

Basing his forecast upon a study of solar cycles and research into tree growth Dr Moseley asserted that rainfall during the next 45 years would exceed that of any equal period since the floods of 1883 and 1884.

He estimated that in 1948 more precipitation would be recorded than in any year since 1858, when the great lakes rose to the highest level on record

A complete weather cycle, Dr Moseley said, covered 90 years, 45 of which were unusually arid, and 45 unusually wet.

Wet Period Due.

"We have entered a period when there should be more precipitation than in the last 45 years," he declared. "The corresponding cycle which started 90 years ago was particularly wet, especially in the Ohio valley.

"At Cincinnati, more than 50 inches fell every year from 1846-50. Porthmouth and Marietta had 47 inches, and at Dayton the 1846-49 average was 56.21 inches. Ordinarily not more than 40 inches fall annually at these points."

A study of tree rings Dr. Moseley said, disclosed that growths at 90-year intervals corresponded closely. Widths of rings, he added, varied from year to year, but for certain years were similar in trees of different ages and species.

"My prediction of heavy precipitation for 1948 and a majority of the years from 1947 to 1957 is based on the fact that corresponding periods beginning 90 and 180 years ago were wet ones,' he said. "The maximum rainfall for the entire period at many places was in 1858.

It is probably safe to say that in no other consecutive 26 months in the entire record for this part of North America did as much rain fall as from November, 1857, to December, 1859. This appears from records in Ohio, Kentucky, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Louisiana."

Solar changes, which are most easily charted by sun-spots, govern the earth's weather cycles, Dr. Moseley said. Due to irregular fluctuation of the spots, it was not until recently that it became possible to estimate their recurrence and evolve the 90-year weather cycle theory, he added.

200 SIMPSON PUPILS TAKE PART IN SCHOOL'S MUSICALE FRIDAY

More than 200 students at John Simpson Junior high school will take part in the school's annual spring musicale at 8 p. m. Friday in the Senior high school auditorium.

The program will be presented by students of the school's music department and members of the girl's physical education classes

Included on the program will be three selections by the school orchestra under the direction of Sigurd Jorgenson, instructor of instrumental music in the public schools and five numbers by the Girl's Glee club under the direction of Miss Fannie Lew Eiler, with Jenny Lou Ganneway and Marilyn Gernhardt as soloists. Francis Smith and Elaine Marlow will accompany the group.

A vocal ensemble will sing two numbers accompanied by Betty Smart at the harp. Miss Smart will also play a harp solo. The Boy's glee club under the direction of Lawrence Frank will sing eight numbers, and the school choir, also under the direction of Frank, will present four.

The evening show will be open to the public. A special show for students of the school will be given at 2:30 p. m. Friday

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

The ideal cook-book for older girls is Lucy Mary Maltby's "It's Fun to Cook" The first half of the book gives all sorts of ideas for parties, teas, picnics and amusing games. The second half of the book contains many recipes, the easiest of which are starred in the index There are over 100 photographs, throughout the book.

One chapter is headed "If you can read, you can cook." This might be called the motto of the book, as the author has taken two young girls, as her heroines, who know nothing about cooking and seem to care less That is, at the beginning They soon change their mind, as will any person who even looks at the book! All in all, it is quite the most attractive cook-book, for young people, that we have ever seen, and it would make a splendid present.

HONOR SENIORS

PERRYSVILLE — Seniors of Perrysville high school will be honor guests at a banquet and dance to be given by the Juniors in the school auditorium Friday evening.

Miss Lois Stoner will preside over the evening affair as toastmistress. Miss Ruth Myers will deliver the toast to the seniors, while Miss Bernice Britton will respond for the senior-guests Supt H. M. Wiggins will also appear on the speaking program.

Musical numbers will be presented by Mrs. Charlotte Mohr, Miss Mildred Gleston, Prof. Wayne Wilson and the Junior Girls Glee club.

Book of the Week

The creator of Ferdinand, the little bull who only wanted to sit in the field and smell the flowers, has persuaded the publishing house for which he works to print a very different sort of book No bull is the hero of "Listen Little Girl," indeed there is no hero

Mr. Leaf, bless his heart, is trying to tell the truth about what happens to girls in New York. His book is no expose of the White Slave racket, however. It is only an apparently careful estimate of a girl's chances in New York, and it is as subtle a job of debunking the "mysterious" city made famous by the late Mr McIntyre as this reader has seen in a long while.

Mr. Leaf has divided his book three ways The first section purports to tell what jobs, with what pay, a girl may aspire to if she is beautiful Modeling of all sorts, chorus work, the legitimate stage, cigarette girl jobs, hostessing, even the business of movie ushering. It seems, from the figures, that the money will be pretty small and the chance of getting and holding a job so low that it's hardly worth the trouble of looking.

The brainy girl comes next. Mr. Leaf explains that there is no law against girls having looks and brains both, he would need to do that for self-protection. Best chances in this division seem to lie in the advertising, publishing and sales fields—advertising particularly offers quite a bit of money if you have a gift for persuading people to buy things they didn't know they wanted

The chapter on publishing considers all the activities suggested by the title, even the job of reporting on a daily newspaper. Women aren't doing so much on the city desk, Mr. Leaf believes. Not nowadays.

The last classification is devoted to "nice" girls. You'd be gratified to know that this is about the most stable division, chiefly because it includes sales jobs, social work and teaching. Not that there aren't plenty of teachers in New York already.

In any case, this is one of the few books for the general reader, written with good humor, which gives the discouraging truth about the migration to New York. And very probably it won't keep a single female hopeful out of the big town.

Drug Manufacturer Wants Aid for Ailing Indigents.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va.—(AP)—President John F. Anderson of the American drug manufacturers association has declared "some plan should be set up for those unable to pay for medical advice and proper medicine"

Speaking at the annual convention, Anderson said socialized medicine is of increasing importance not only to doctors but to drug manufacturers and added:

"The publication early this year of a sickness survey in the country shows the daily average in winter of six millons who are unable to work or attend school because of illness or physical impairment due to disease or accident. These figures are appalling."

ATTENDS PARLEY

PERRYSVILLE — Rev G. M. Schrack, Perrysville Lutheran pastor, was in Columbus Tuesday where he attended a meeting of Synod of Ohio committee which is drafting plans for the nation-wide twentieth anniversary celebration of the organization of the United Lutheran church which was effected in 1918

Rev. Mr. Schrack is a member of the synod's committee on pageants and music.

A great rally of Lutherans from this section will be held in Mansfield on May 26th, according to Rev. Schrack.

The estate of the late Rose L. Hahn of Mansfield is valued at $57,568, the inventory on file in probate court showed today.

More than half the estate, or $28,901, is in outstanding notes and accounts, while stocks and securities are valued at $17,598 and real estate at $10,500.

Mrs. Hahn, who died April 2, left a $5,000 endowment to Mansfield General hospital, $5,000 to St. Luke's Lutheran church and $500 to the Mansfield Federation of Women. The rest of the estate was bequeathed to a number of relatives and friends.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(INS)—In the midst of more controversial blather than has been heard about one horse since the exploits of Richard the Third and General Sheridan, comes the clear, incisive voice of a rival trainer, Frank Kearns, to speak with at least the semblance of authority on the status of the now demi-favored Stagehand this morning, two days before the running of the great Kentucky Derby. Stagehand ran a disconcerting third to The Chief and Lawrin in the derby trial at a mile on Tuesday and since then the tongues have been wagging fore, aft, back, forth, across and by the right-oblique.

Mr Kearns didn't. Right briskly, the trainer of the well esteemed Bull Lea said his say to the effect that he didn't believe Stagehand was "right."

"In fact," he added, "if he was my horse, I wouldn't even start him."

As to that, the impression has got about in one circle of thought here that Owner Maxwell Howard and Trainer Earle Sande are simply doing the sporting thing. That, in fact, too much money has been sent in on Stagehand with the books, not to give the boys at least a ride for their bets.

"Still, that's only one circle here. We have all kinds and aim to please. Caesar seemed to have a terrible time getting all Gaul divided into three parts, but I guess the old boy was a little too conservative for our tastes. He didn't know the tempo of Louisville before the derby. Three circles here, and you're out. And they are:

1. The horse wasn't trying.
2. The horse tried to, but couldn't.
3. He's worthless, for purposes of this race.

Hear All Kinds of Rumors Now.

ONE CIRCLE assures you that Sande didn't intend to start the horse in the derby trial—because the track was too hard—but was prevailed upon to do so when the track management agreed to plough a lane for him outside the field. Then it is added that Westrope was under implicit instructions to keep Stagehand on the outside and to do nothing otherwise, but to pull up a saddle, so to speak, and make himself at home. This he did (they say) hitting the horse only once, when somebody tried to pass him on the outside.

But when all the surmise is over, you seemingly have to come back to established fact, namely, that there are only two normally trained horses in the race, Bull Lea and Fighting Fox, which yesterday went for an impressive workout at the Downs. They were ready 10 days ago, and are just easing along.

The rest have been sprinting or recuperating or running in bar plates or house slippers or something.

So it's up to you. You can't chant a requiem or sing a hosanna. Personally, I would be knowing. All I do is work here.

BEULAH PARK LOOKS TO SUCCESSFUL SEASON

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Beulah Park officials looked forward to a highly successful racing season today after approximately 5,000 fans thronged to the park on opening day and shoved $54,224 through the betting windows.

The six furlong inaugural handicap was won by Fast Move who carried 118 pounds and sprinted around the track in the record equaling time of 1:12. Fast Move won by a length and paid 13-10.

50 Years Of U. S. Golf

By GARDNER SOULE

THE COST of golf, to the first American players, was low. It took just $58 a year to cut the fairways and smooth the greens of the early apple-orchard course of St. Andrew's, Yonkers, N. Y. Dues were $10 a year. Caddies could be hired for 30 cents; a field iron or mashie cost about $2.

Harder to Attempt To Win Edge Today

Tribe Goes Down to 1 to 0 Defeat In 13 Innings In Second Game In Capital City.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Mel Harder today was to attempt to win the third and deciding game of the Cleveland Indians' current series with the Senators. Monte Weaver, the old professor, was to pitch for Washington.

Yesterday the Tribe went down 1 to 0 in 13 innings victims of some of the finest they have seen in many a year. Held to three hits in nine innings, the Tribe made but six off Dutch Leonard in the entire 13. No Indian reached third and no Indian walked. Two of the six hits were made by the Indians' rookie spark plug, Ken Keltner.

Bob Feller started the game for Cleveland and allowed but three hits himself before being removed for a pinch batter in the 11th. He walked nine batters, however.

Freak Hop Helps.

The final score was the result of a couple of freak hops. With Bill Zuber pitching, Zeke Bonura sent a lazy hopper to short, but as Lyn Lary stooped to play it, the ball hit a pebble or clod of dirt and jumped crazily over his head for a single. Jonathan Stone followed with a single and Bonura went to second.

Zuber then threw Cecil Travis' bunt wide in an effort to catch Bonura at third, and Taft Wright, batting for Rick Ferrell, flied to Solters in left, Bonura scoring after the catch. Zeke might not have scored if Solters' accurate throw home had not bounced high, forcing Rollie Hemsley out of the position in which he could have tagged the runner.

Red Streaks Enter Relays

Mansfield to Compete at Salem Saturday.

SALEM—(INS)—A record entry list for the Salem Night Relays, to be held in Reilly Stadium Saturday, seemed assured today as applications continued to come in from Ohio and Pennsylvania high schools.

The Night Relays, only event of the kind in the country, will be refereed by Wilbur J. Springer, who founded them in 1930. Fred E. Cope, is director of the meet.

Cope said that seven Pennsylvania teams were among the early entries, as compared to three in 1937.

The 1937 Relays were won by Salem high school, a favorite to repeat. An early favorite whose chances have been reduced because team members must pay their own expenses if they compete is Central high school, Cleveland, winner of the recent Mansfield Relays.

Another favorite is the 1936 winner, Toledo Scott, which has re-entered the event after the absence of a year. Scott won the Ohio Wesleyan high school meet earlier in the year.

Among the entrants are six Akron schools, Buchtel, East, West, North, South and Lehman; Dover, Lorain, Mansfield, Ravenna, Salem, Struthers, Farmington and Attica.

SCHADEK, KINNEY STAR AS MUSILLES TRIUMPH

Home runs by Schadek and Kinney featured the Musille team's 11 to 4 softball victory over the Miller Dairys at Liberty park yesterday. In addition to the home runs, Kinney and Schadek each slapped out a double and a single. The winners collected 16 hits while Schadek limited the Dairys to four.

Mansfield Still Figures in Loop Plans, Says Smith

Ohio State League President to Attempt to Bring Pirate Official to City This Week.

By Oscar Ruhl, News-Journal Sports Editor.

MANSFIELD still stands a pretty good chance of regaining the Ohio State league franchise it lost when the Boston Red Sox pulled stakes, it was learned today in a telephone conversation with President Harry Smith of Columbus.

While reports that representatives of the Pittsburgh Pirates have already conferred with Mansfield interests relative to a tie-up are untrue, Smith stated that the National league club is interested in obtaining the franchise forfeited by the Red Sox.

Operate Like Sox.

Smith indicated that the Pirates are willing to operate the club on the same basis that the Red Sox did last year.

The circuit president stated that an attempt will be made to bring Bill Hinchman, a representative of the Pirates, to Mansfield this week to discuss the possibility of taking over the franchise, which has been tentatively transferred to a number of other cities since the Sox withdrawal.

If Pittsburgh agrees to take over the club, a formal re-entry in the circuit will be made at a meeting to be held in Marion next week.

Mansfield's re-entry will give the league the same membership as last season. All of the clubs will return with the same affiliations except Marion, which will be sponsored by Indianapolis of the American Association.

Sought For Galion.

The league originally sought the aid of the Pirates for Galion, which dropped plans to join the Class D circuit this week because of the expense involved in the operation of a club.

Smith said that the Pirates can send enough ball players to fill out a team on a minute's notice.

The 110-game league schedule will get under way a week from next Wednesday.

Coshocton Signs Chappie Geygan

Chappie Geygan, who played second base and piloted the Sandusky and Marion Ohio State league teams during the past two years, has been signed by Coshocton of the Central Ohio league of which the American Legion club of Mansfield is a member.

Drops Another Non-Title Go

Sixto Escobar Defeated by Nat Liftin.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Bantamweight Champion Sixto Escobar's fond dream of fighting his way to the world feather crown today was temporarily ended.

For the second straight time, he failed last night to even score a victory in his own division, when he dropped a 10-round decision to Nat Litfin, unheralded New York bantam. Escobar recently suffered similar embarrassment in another non-title bout with K. O. Morgan at Detroit.

The little Puerto Rican made it close against Litfin, but not close enough. It was a savage and hard-fought battle and a decided upset.

Both fighters weighed 122 pounds for last night's battle, and the decision was split three ways, as an indication of how close the rounds were.

The defeat probably means that Escobar will have to continue fighting in his own division before he will be allowed to step up among the feathers, who figure soon to be without a ruler, paving the way for a mad scramble among all comers anywhere near the weight limit.

Hi-Speeds at Carey Sunday

Mansfield's Hi-Speeds will attempt to register their second straight victory of the season Sunday when they face the Cary Eagles at Cary in their first out-of-town appearance.

The Mansfielders got off to a real start last week by beating the Sandusky Amburns at League park. The Hi-Speeds will play their second home game the following Sunday at League park against the Columbus Red Sox.

JACOBS DENIES BREAKING FAITH WITH ILLINOIS

NEW YORK—(AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs denied today that he broke faith with the Illinois boxing commission when he selected New York instead of Chicago as the site for the Louis-Schmeling heavy-weight title fight on June 22. It was Jacob's reply to accusations made by Chairman Joseph Triner of the Illinois commission.

Jacobs was particularly peeved by the insinuation that he had picked New York because of his alleged connection with the ticket speculation business here.

Tyger Golfers Battle to Tie

The golf swingers of Mansfield and Wooster high school battled to an 8 to 8 tie at Possum Run yesterday. Bob Moorhead led the Mansfield shotmakers with a 77, and Greasly was low for the visitors with a 76. The Tygers will engage Canton McKinley in a match at Coolridge Saturday.

INDIANS, BREWERS SURRENDER FARM CLUBS

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Milwaukee Brewers and the Cleveland Indians today were ordered to surrender one farm club each to comply with rulings prohibiting clubs from having more than one farm team in any league.

The Milwaukee club was instructed to sever farm relations with Wausau of the Northern League. Cleveland was ordered to drop Owensboro, Ky., of the Kitty League. Action in the two cases was taken by Baseball High Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

THREE WOMEN TIE FOR LEAD IN SINGLES

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Three women bowlers held a 608 score today in a tie for the leadership of the singles standings in the women's national bowling tournament.

Ailing Arm to Keep Dean On Sidelines for Month

X-Ray Shows Same Old Fault That Kept Him on Bench Last Season.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—An X-ray today solved the mystery of Dizzy Dean's ailing arm. The question now is, "Will a month's rest cure him?"

Dizzy's trouble, the Chicago Cubs physician said, was caused by a muscle inflammation near the right shoulder resulting from the same old injury that wrecked him last season.

Grimm Steps In.

Dean, secured from the St. Louis Cardinals for $185,000 in cash and three players, tried his best to minimize the sore arm and might have taken a regular turn in the pitcher's box all season if Manager Charlie Grimm hadn't steped in.

"Diz, you've got a sore arm," Grimm told him after a workout yesterday. "You go see Doc Davis."

"Those pictures showed traces of a former case of brusitis and that's what caused his present condition," Davis said. "He has an inflammatory condition of the deltoid muscle, but it's nothnig permanent. Trouble there is one of the easiest things to cure."

Diz was unconcerned at the announcement. He was put to shagging fly balls in the outfield to trim his waistline and put the spring back in his legs while he's waiting for his arm to heal. He went at it with all the fire he might show in a world series.

"He'll Win 20."

"Don't worry," he said. "I'll still win 20 games this year.

Grimm said Dean will stay with the ball club the whole month.

"He's got other things besides his arm to get in shape before he can play ball for us," he said. "We'll need him plenty later on."

Sandusky Expected to Pack Too Much Power for Streaks

Meet Two Champs.

They engage Sandusky in the next to the last dual meet at the Stadium Saturday and close with Akron Garfield next week. Both teams stack up stronger than the Mansfielders.

Sandusky won the Mansfield Relays and state championships last year, and the lineup includes enough survivors to make the Blue Streaks definite favorites.

Mehock expects his men to give the Sanduskians a pretty good battle for points, but figures they may carry too much strength in several of the events.

For instance, Sandusky has one of the finest half milers in the state in Riedy, a definite mile threat in Johnson, a great quarter miler in A. E. Gant and a strong shot putter in Al Gant.

Saturday will mark only the second time that Mansfield and Sandusky have collided in a dual meet since Mehock took over the coaching reins here.

Show Improvement.

Mehock said that his charges are showing constant improvement, and, with all of the cripples back in the lineup, may make it rather interesting for the visitors.

He stated that Elmer's Dials' bad knee has responded to treatment, and he will be entered in the high jump Saturday.

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK—(AP)—Is there anything to all this talk about Glenn Cunningham being ready to sign on the dotted line? . . . Part of those broad grins Gabby Street is passing out are caused by the way Messrs. Heffner and Kress are cavorting around second and short. . . . Talking about the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling title fight, Broadway bookmakers say the champion will be a 5 to 7 favorite when the books open and a 1 to 2 choice just before the bell. . . . They predict there'll be little or no betting on a knockout by either party... The radio talks by Oscar Vitt, manager of the Indians, are among the best put out by the managers in either league.

Eddie Brietz

That doughty soldier of fortune, Soldier Farr, is major domo of Barney Ross' camp and is doing his usual good job of it. . . . That double play the Yankees reeled off against the hustling Brownies yesterday was their 23rd so far this year. . . . Jimmy Braddock was on hand to wave good-bye to Joe Gould and Tommy Farr when they sailed on the Normandie yesterday. . . . It will be the longest the pair have been parted since the lean days of 1934 when Jim toiled on the docks at Hoboken and Joe tramped Broadway trying to raise milk money—for Jim's kids. . . . A great pair, those boys.

Gunnar Barlund, who has been having no luck finding opponents on the coast, finally has been matched with Sunny Jim McVey, the Oakland colored boy with the sour puss and the sweet name.... Betty Wagner, daughter of old Honus Wagner, drove down from Columbus, where she is a co-ed at Ohio State, to Cincinnati to see her dad only to find Honus had remained at Pittsburgh to attend to some business. . . . Word from Paul Damski, manager of Gunnar Barlund, now in the west, says Steve Dudas hasn't yet collected that $15,000 he was to receive for tuning up Max Schmeling. . . . Der fuehrer would never permit two guys to lug that much dough out of Germany, so an agreement was reached for Schmeling to pay off Dudas out of his end of the Louis fight.

AMBERS FACES VAUGHN IN NON-TITLE FIGHT

NEW YORK — (UP) — Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers was en route to Louisville today for a non-title fight with Jimmy Vaughn of Cleveland on May 6, the eve of the Kentucky Derby. After the fight Ambers goes to Kansas City for another 10-round non-title fight with Jimmy Garrison on May 11.

APPOINTS SECRETARY

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—H. A. McGowan, Ironton, today assumed his duties as secretary of the Ohio racing commission after his appointment to the post by George Blecker, Mansfield, commission chairman. McGowan succeeds Leigh Tuttle, Springfield, resigned.

SIGN SAM CHAPMAN

BERKELEY, Calif.—(U.P.)—The Philadelphia Athletics have signed Sam Chapman, University of California's star football and baseball outfielder.

All Smiles

There are three very good reasons for the broad grin on the well-tanned face of Bruce Barnes, Kenyon college tennis coach. First—he believes that his star pupil, Don McNeill, the 19-year-old tennis sensation who already holds the National Men's Indoor championship and the nation's No. 9 men's ranking, is definitely headed for the world's No. 1 tennis ranking. Second—Barnes last week defeated Karel Kozeluh for the National Open Singles championship. Third—At the same tournament, Barnes later paired with George Lott to win the National Open Doubles championship and a grand slam at the White Sulphur Springs tournament. Barnes was Bill Tilden's opponent when the latter's troupe appeared in Mansfield a couple of years ago.

Small but Select Field for Derby

Fewer Horses Than Usual to Go to Post in Classic Saturday Afternoon.

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Kentucky's annually recurring tornado, better known as the derby, struck this horse-minded community full force today and gave no indication of expending its energy until the king of the three-year olds is crowned at Churchill Downs late Saturday afternoon.

It has been gradually gathering momentum the last few days as the 11 equine principals in America's most colorful turf spectacle stepped through their final preps for the $50,000 test.

No "Recession."

From the looks of the town's hostelries and crowded streets, one would never guess there was such a thing as a "recession." The hotels have been sold out for months despite the increasing of the rates many fold. Refreshment bars and restaurants found their hospitality taxed even today with the big push not expected until tomorrow and Saturday morning

Kentucky Colonels, who hold their annual frolic tomorrow night, paraded proudly through the hotel lobbies.

The Downs itself already has assumed its best bib and tucker. The seating capacity has been increased to some 32,000 but that'll take care of only about half of the expected crowd The infield has had its face lifted and resembles a beautiful garden with many colored flowers, rock walls and fountains surrounding a doorway symbolic of a Kentucky mansion. Concession men and ushers have been dressed in bright blue outfits. Post time will be about 4:30 p. m., Central Standard Time.

Jockeys, many of whom have been plying their trade for years, are on edge. Although the age of the riders range from 19 to 29, not one of them in this year's race ever has had the thrill of returning to the derby winner's circle.

Out of all the arguments came only one clear fact — this is the most wide open derby since Brokers Tip surprised in 1933. It'll be the smallest field since nine trailed Morvich home in 1922 but no less than seven of the horses figure strongly and only three can be classed strictly as outsiders. If the track should be muddy the field may be reduced to even fewer than ten.

Heading the list is Maxwell Howard's combination of Stagehand and the Chief, trained by Earl Sande. Backed by Stagehand's brilliant performances on the west coast last winter and the Cheif's track-record-equalling performance here on Tuesday, the entry is expected to rule the 5 to 2 favorite.

The Fox at 3-1.

Next in line are Fighting Fox, Wood Memorial winner from William Woodward's Belair stud. at 3 to 1, and Warren Wright's Bull Lea, chief hope of the Hart Boots, at 4 to 1. Herbert M. Woolf's Lawrin and Hal Price Hearley's Menow, both speed demons, are quoted jointly at 8 to 1 and William Dupont, jr.'s Dauber at 10 to 1.

Behind the leaders are Myron Selznick's Can't Wait at 15 to 1, and the three outsiders—Mrs. William O'Toole's Elooto, Bert Friend's Co-Sport and Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Mountain Ridge—at odds ranging from 30 to 50-1.

OKLAHOMA CITY GETS WOMEN'S PIN TOURNEY

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Pin-smashing in the Women's National Bowling Congress tournament was resumed here today after an interruption for a business meeting in which Oklahoma City was selected for the 1939 tourney. All officers were re-elected. Mrs. M. Wermich of Chicago bowled a 584 to place fifth in the singles.

THREE CITIES IN LINE FOR SOFTBALL TOURNEY

PORTSMOUTH — (U.P.) — Three cities, Chillicothe, Dcyton and Elyria, are under consideration as the site of the annual state softball tournament, it was announced here today by C. Carl May, commissioner of the Ohio Amateur Softball association. May said the state tournament would be held Aug. 26-28.

Reserve's One Man Team

Joe Scott, above, Elyria sophomore at Western Reserve, is a real sensation of the Red Cat track team this year. Against Carnegie Tech in the opening meet he scored 31 points and the following Saturday against Cincinnati he scored 35. Joe's seven firsts against Cincinnati were in the high jump, broad jump, pole vault, discus, shot and high and low hurdles. He is also proficient in the javelin and sprints and is being groomed for the Olympic decathlon competition by Track Coach Chan Coulter. Scott's best events are the pole vault, high jump and high hurdles. In the pole vaule he has cleared 13 feet, the high jump over six feet and he has a record of 15 seconds in the high hurdles. Scott is a former Mansfield Relays participant.

Baseball Spotlight Falls on Pitchers

Leonard, Beggs, Poffenberger and Dietrich Take Bows for Brilliant Games.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The American league spotlight today fell on four obscure boys from the back row—Emil Leonard, Joe Beggs, Cletus Poffenberger and Bill Dietrich.

For this day anyway the Red Ruffings, Mel Harders, Lefty Gomezes and other pitching stalwarts of the American league must remain in the background while the above quartet take a bow for brilliantly pitched games.

Beggs Beats Browns.

Then Beggs, 24-year-old righthander who pitched the New York Yankees into second place with a 3-2 triumph over the St. Louis Browns. He allowed only seven hits, fanned one and did not issue a pass.

And next (Boots) Poffenberger, stocky, chesty 22-year-old righthander, who pitched the Detroit Tigers out of the cellar with a 4-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox. He allowed only six hits, struck out two men, and walked one. Poffenberger is the lad who continually tells Mickey Cochrane: "Let me pitch against the tougher clubs. I don't like to waste my stuff on the push overs."

And finally Dietrich, the bespectacled Chicago White Sox righthander who hurled a five-hit, 4-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Bill Dickey's homer after Joe DiMaggio's double gave the Yanks their winning tallies against the Browns. Taft Wright's fly with the bases loaded enabled Zeke Bonura to score Washington's winning run.

The Tigers shelled two Red Sox pitchers for 16 hits, including three each by Greenberg and Tebbetts. Steinbacher's triple and Gerald Walker's single were the big blows in the White Sox winning rally.

Claude Passeau, an old Cub jinx, pitched the Phillies to a 6-4 victory over Chicago, with a little relief help from Hal Kelleher in the eighth and ninth innings.

Bucs Snap String.

Pittsburgh snapped a five-game losing streak with a 9-5 victory over Brooklyn. Russ Bauers and Joe Bowman held the Dodgers to three hits. Bauers was taken out in the fifth because of wildness.

NEW YORK—Nat Litfin 122, New York, outpointed Bantamweight Champion Sixto Escobar, 122, Puerto Rico, (10), non-title.

Jockey Confident Bull Lea'll Win Derby

By HENRY McLEMORE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (U.P.) — His first mount was a scraggly Shetland pony, and he threw a chubby leg over it 18 years ago in Hoskins, Neb.

Saturday, with 85,000 persons screaming at him, he'll come out on the track at Churchill Downs in the Kentucky Derby parade, and his mount will be Bull Lea, the most feared horse in the field.

Sitting in his silks in the jockeys' room at Churchill Downs, Irving Anderson, 21 now, and a top ranking contract rider, told me how he felt about the derby, and what he thought would happen out on the racing strip.

"We'll take it all," Irving said. "Every bit of it. I've seen most of the horses we've got to lick, and ridden one or two of them, and at the finish they'll be getting out of our way to keep from being run over. That Bull Lea can run."

"But how far?" I asked, remembering that Bull Lea's sire was Bull Dog, a horse who never liked to go more than a mile.

Irving took a crack at the horsemen who have said that Bull Lea's lack of early speed would be a big handicap to him.

"We've got plenty of early foot. In that Keeneland race we stayed right with Menow all the way. From the break until we caught him at the 16th pole he never was more than a length ahead, and you know what that means. He's the fastest thing out of a gate you ever saw. So we can't be so slow."

Anderson doesn't fear any of the eight derby horses who raced in the derby trials Tuesday, and that field included Stagehand, The Chief, Lawrin, Elooto and Co-Sport. He should have a pretty fair line on them, too, because he was up on Lawrin in that race, which saw The Chief equal the track record for a mile and lick Lawrin by half a head.

"Both The Chief and Lawrin ran a great mile in the derby trial," he said, "but they both were dead at the end. Neither could have gone a mile and a quarter."

"What about Stagehand?" I asked.

"I didn't see much of him. He was behind me all the time. But from what I hear he didn't run much of a race. I heard some people say that he didn't try very hard, but I know that Westrope used the whip on him four or five times, and I never heard of a jockey whipping a horse just for the fun of it. When you bang 'em you bang 'em for just one reason—to make 'em run."

I asked Anderson if he was getting nervous as Derby day neared.

"Plenty. It's all I think about these days. And nights, too. I have dreamed that race 50 times."

Sets Deadline For Entries

Commission Asks Fees to Be Posted Wednesday.

Deadline for entries in the softball leagues sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. has been definitely set for Wednesday, May 11, by the Y commission, according to Donald D. Cram, secretary. All entry fees and players registration fees must be in at this time, he said.

Rules and regulations were adopted at last night's managers' meeting with a commission set-up to handle all affairs of the game. J. P. Miller is chairman of the commission, C. F. Rayburn, treasurer, and Cram secretary, Harold Miller and Robert Finical make up the remaining members of the present commission.

Fees for association memberships are $10 for Church and Club leagues and $12 for Commercial teams. A 25-cent registration fee will be assessed each player participating in the leagues and this fee must be paid and name on the association list before he participates in the league games.

The new organization was necessary due to the failing of the city to support softball this year because of the lack of funds. It is the plan of the commission to work closely with managers to decide the question of eligibility and classification of player.

An umpire meeting will be held Friday night at the Y. M. C. A. at which time any man who wishes to become an umpire in the Association games can file application. Umpires will be paid from the funds of the Association. A final rules interpretation meeting will he held for managers and umpires the latter part of next week.

All teams wishing to take part in the Church, Club or Commercial league are requested to get their entry blanks and registration blanks at the Y. M. C. A. immediately.

Toledo Routs Brewers, 16-8

MILWAUKEE — (INS)— Toledo held a 16to-8 victory over Milwaukee today after a festival 12-run rally in the eighth inning of the only game played in the American Association yesterday.

The two nines battled along on even terms until the Mud-Hen sluggers pounded three Brewer hurlers for the most runs that have been scored in any one inning in the association this year.

Winegardner, Drake and A. Johnson attempted to stem the steady flow of bingles but by the time the show was over the visitors had the game on ice.

Fred Marberry, Toledo pitcher, was hit rather freely by the Brewers but remained in the box to be acclaimed the winning moundsman.

The Columbus-Kansas City, Louisville-St. Paul and Indianapolis games were postponed on account of rain.

'CATS TRIM ASHLAND

ASHLAND—The New London high school track team defeated Ashland, 92 to 36, here yesterday. The Wildcats won 12 of the 14 first places.

CAMERAMAN'S BOOK BOON TO PICTURE FANS

Addition to Library Tells How Newspapers Obtain Photos, History of Profession.

If you're one of those camera fans who delight in snapping pictures of your best friend or your worst enemy in flattering, or not so flattering poses, you'll be interested in one of the new books at the Mansfield Public Library. It is "Get That Picture!—The Story of a News Cameraman."

Author is A. J. Erickson of Wide World Photos who explains how newspapers obtain their pictures, how syndicates operate, the history of news photography and in short, all there is to know about the profession.

Another timely book, just received is "Who Called That Lady a Skipper?" Written by Marion Rice Hart, the story is an entertaining account of a woman's journey around the world in a 90-foot ketch. Finding that her captain lacked navigating skill, Mrs. Hart undertook the task. Her letters describe everything from fist fights among the crew to hunting dragons on the island of Komodo.

Other non-fiction books include "J. B. Murphy; Stormy Petrel of Surgery," the story of a notably controversial figure in American medicine, written by Dr. Loyal Davis, a surgeon himself; Stefan Zweig's biography of Magellan, "Conqueror of the Seas" in which tribute is paid to the greatness of the early explorer.

"Railroad West" Tops Fiction.

Topping the list of new fiction is "Railroad West" by Cornelia Meigs, a story of the building of the Northern Pacific and the romance of Philip Fox, a young engineer and Anne Hale.

"Madness in the Herat" by Edward Donahoe depicts the growth of the oil business in the west, through the life of Timothy Wilson, a money-ridden oil town in Oklahoma.

"The Stubborn Way" by Baxter Hathaway is a story of the ambitions and vacillations of a young man. Other new fiction is "Black Cats Are Lucky" by Fielding; "House of Spies" by Deeping, "Powder Smoke" by George and "Sally Lunn' by Walmsley.

Three new books have been added to the John Baxter Black Memorial collection this week: "Summing Up" by Somerset Maugham; "The Promises Men Live By" by Harry Scherman and "Sleep in Peace" by Phillis Bentley.

This week the library is adding 16 books on travel in various countris of the world. They are "My Scotland" by Masdonell; "Fenland Rivers" by Wedgwood; "Here's England" by Hartley; "Face of France" by Greenwall; "Island In the Sun" by Harte; "Portugal" by Gallop; "King Zog's Albania" by Swire; "Wanderings In Jugoslavia" by Alexander; "Desert Encounter" by Holmboe; "Spotted Lion" by Dower; "Revels In Jamacia" by Wright; "America South" by Beals; "Australia Advances" by Dow; "Tiki" by Lipscomb; "Hawaii, Isles of Enchantment" by Gessler, and "Hawaiian Tapestry" by Withington.

Radiophoto of Hitler's Arrival For Rome Visit

THEATER

A "PERFECT PERSONALITY" has been found in Hollywood, but not in a single person. It is a composite picture of nine stars, selected by Frank Borzage, director at M-G-M studios. He names Norma Shearer for graciousness, Clark Gable for sincerity, Myrna Loy for poise, Robert Taylor and William Powell for conversational talent, Margaret Sullavan for voice, Rosalind Russell for taste in dress, Jeanette MacDonald for alertness, and Virginia Bruce for neatness.

Learning a la Hollywood

Fifty juvenile extras and four extra teachers moved on the movie lot when the "Adventures of Tom Sawyer," now playing a two-day return engagement at the Madison, was being filmed in Hollywood. In between fishing, ball playing, and hiding up a tree before the camera, the modern children had their lessons strictly according to board of education rules. Little Tommy Kelly, the hero of the piece, is 12 years old . . . and if mothers are wondering what he has that their own sons have not, it is that radiance characterized by movie people as screen personality.

To Your Health.

Those numerous cocktails consumed by the stars and the players in the cafe scene in "There's Always a Woman," showing at the Ohio theater currently, were mixed every day for eight days Before the property men were through playing bartenders they had mixed 960 drinks . . . without touching a drop of alcohol. The only people who can both make a drink look right for filming and palatable to the taste are property men Dinners served during the cafe scenes were real, though, prepared by an honest-to-goodness chef.

Three Careers.

Evelyn Venable, the "Female Fugitive," opening at the Majestic theater tomorrow, has three careers. Which one she puts first, we wouldn't know, but the world knows her best as an actress. She also is a wife of Hal Mohr, mother of two small daughters and,-at present, is taking up the job of personally supervising her daughters' education. She happens to be qualified as a teacher, having completed her course at Vassar college. Others in the cast are Reed Hadley, Craig Reynolds, and John Kelly. Also playing at the Majestic tomorrow and Saturday is "West of the Rainbow's End," with Tim McCoy.

Then—Sudden Death!

A camel driver disappears in Gobi desert's shifting sands. A Russian colonel has a pistol in his hand and a knife in his heart. An antique dealer is murdered when machine-gun bullets riddle his shop and a legation attache is found dead aboard a drifting junk! All this happens in the picture "Thank You, Mr. Moto," at the Ritz theater tomorrow and Saturday. Peter Lorre plays the title role as a sleuth, with Jayne Regan offering the love interest. A western feature, "Partners of the Plains," stars William Boyd as Hopalong Cassidy.

Coshocton Lady Describes As Absolutely Remarkable Experience With Famous Preparation—Had Trouble With Stomach.

Thousands of men and women have told of their despair in seeking aid and then expressed their happiness at relief in glowing terms for World's Tonic Rich juices from herbs and roots gathered from various places in the old world and combined with ingredients from the new have drawn such expressions of praise from the melting pot mixture of our nation as "just what I should have had in the first place"—"I feel like a new person now,' and many others

Glorious and amazing are other things said about the relief given to many discouraging sufferers by this famous herbal medicine which attacks the seat and cause of many common ailments and proceeds on the theory that a clean intestinal tract pays dividends in health and happiness The World's Tonic man can tell you of many more happy users who describe its performance as splendid, quick and thorough Ailing intestines cleansed and stimulated as poisons and impurities are aided on their way to elimination throws the door wide open for nature to help you on the road to health and happiness Thus, a priceless lesson is yours for only the asking. Drop in and see the World's Tonic man. Ask him to fit your problems to the experience of some other pleased and happy user of World's Tonic, one of which is described here by Mrs. Anna Kendall of 621 Fair St., Coshocton, Ohio.

"Prsonally, I have found that World's Tonic was the best medicine of them all, and I can understand the happiness it brought to others who have suffered from constipation's ills as I did. My condition made it easy for colds to get in and I was so run down that recovery was awfully hard My stomach was badly disordered and I showed alarming symptoms of anemia I was unable to find the right medicine for my case and went from bad to worse It was at Coshocton over two years ago that I first gave World's Tonic a trial The way it relieved my constipation and took away all the other symptoms made such an impression on me that I decided to test World's Tonic further before indorsing it publicly So I must have advised approximately fifty people who were ill and all enjoyed the same relief With World's Tonic around I've never had a recurrence of my former trouble and remember that was two years ago It's absolutely remarkable to enjoy the new feeling of health It gives one pep and courage and I gladly give this indorsement hoping that others will enjoy the same lovely results as I experienced Some of the tests I put World's Tonic to were pretty severe but it triumphed all the way'

World's Tonic contains roots barks herbs and leaves brought here from many different countries of the old world because although they may grow in the United States many such ingredients lack the medicinal values and are entirely different in content, action and results of those growing in old world climates Thus we find in World's Tonic medical properties provided by Nature before science, yet taking their place with modern medical science of the present

ENGINEER RECALLS HAZARDS OF OLD-TIME RAILROADING

(By International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN—Hazards surrounding railroading in the '90's were recalled here recently by J. Herbert Patterson, an engineer for the Pennsylvania railroad who retired after 48 years service.

Railroading was a gruelling, dangerous task back in those days, he asserted Safety measures, such as are observed now, were unheard of and it was not uncommon for a man to work day and night without rest.

'We worked a 24-hour shift lots of times' he said 'Once I worked 36 hours without stopping.

'One time after working 463 hours in one month, I refused to go out on an extra 14-hour shift, and got laid off for 30 days."

Patterson started his career with the Pennsy in 1890 when he began firing a two-a-day freight run between New Castle, Pa., and Homewood, Pa. Five years later he won a promotion to the driver's seat and he held the engineer's rating until his recent retirement at the age of 70.

The first engine he fired back in the days before the turn of the century weighed about 30 tons. It was equipped with airbrakes but only a few freight cars had the same brakeage. The last engine he operated here weighed about 175 tons, was equipped with numerous safety devices and all cars in the train could be stopped with air brakes.

Except for one incident, Patterson said he was never in a major accident and only one man was slightly injured on any train operated by him.

PROGRESSIVES SEEN SERIOUS THREAT IN '40

Followers of La Follette Won't Cut Big Figure in Election This Year, Belief.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
(By INS Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—A solid week of cogitation over the La Follettes' threat of a third party has left the politicians in Washington, both Democratic and Republican, in a state that can only be described as rather puzzled bewilderment.

Few of them, talking on or off the record, believe that a National Progressive party such as Gov. Phil La Follette has proposed, can be organized to any point of effectiveness so far as 1938 is concerned. The primaries are now getting into full swing and old party lines are set. But at the same time, few of the politicians are inclined to discount the effect of the La Follette movement in terms of the presidential campaign of 1940.

Democrats Disturbed.

The fact they are not disposed to sell Governor Phil and Senator Bob Short at this time constitutes at once a recognition of their political resourcefulness—as demonstrated by the La Follettes' ability to maintain themselves in office—and a tribute as well to the memory of their late father, who scared the Republicans blue back in 1924 when he ran independently

The Democrats privately are a little more disturbed over the La Follette threat than they care to admit. That is only natural, for the Wisconsin Progressives have stood valiantly by the New Deal from its inception, six years ago, as have most of the other Progressives from the northwest. The New Dealers, the Wisconsin Progressives, and the Farmer-Laborites have played consistent ball with each other.

The Republicans' attitude might be described as vaguely hopeful in the situation. They figure that if and when the La Follettes' launch their party, with an eye to 1940, whatever popular strength they draw is bound to come from the New Deal—a belief taht is shared by a good many Democrats, too.

Juggle Figures.

Trying to peer hopefully into the future, the Republicans figure it this way: In 1936, they took the worst beating in their history, carrying only two small states. But still they polled 17,000,000 popular votes, as against less than 28,000,000 by the Democrats, for a popular defeat of less than 11,000,000. Rightly or wrongly, the Republicans believe those 17,000,000 votes to be their bed-rock minimum. If now, in 1940, a third party comes along and takes six or seven or ten million votes from the Democrats, then the Republicans believe they have an excellent chance.

Of course, they concede the many ifs, ands, and buts in that sort of calculation. There is the "if" of finding in the next two years a suitable Republican candidate. There is none yet on the horizon. Perhaps, say the Republicans, the tides of November will wash up some presidential timber on the GOP shore.

Dorothy Fuldheim Tells of Europe's 'Merry-Go-Round'

Just back from her 12th trip to Europe, Dorothy Fuldheim will present a new viewpoint on conditions abroad in her talk tonight in the Mansfield High school auditorium on "European Merry-Go-Round."

The Cleveland lecturer is sponsored here by the Temple Emmanuel Sisterhood with Mrs. Norman Kann as general chairman. Tickets are available at the Book Shop, Goldsmith's and the auditorium tonight.

Well known throughout Ohio as a speaker on international affairs, Mrs. Fuldheim interviewed European leaders personally to obtain the material for her lectures.

Since turning to the lecture stage from her former position as school teacher, Mrs. Fuldheim has given more than 1,000 lectures in Cleveland and vicinity. For a number of years the Federation of Women's Clubs there has sponsored a series of her talks as a fund raising project.

Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert today was at a loss to know what to do with the dark fedora hat left in his office several days ago. He expressed the hope that the owner who inadvertently left the hat on his desk will call for it before spring clean-up is over.

Leo Jones of the fire department dipped his brush in bright yellow paint yesterday and started dressing up the fire plugs for spring. When he reached the plug at the corner of North Walnut and Fourth street, his score was eight down and 499 to go. How much paint he will have used by the time the town is thoroughly covered with black and yellow plugs is a guess, but figured on the basis of the quart he had used for the first eight, it should take about 16 gallons to do the entire job. Helping Jones to swing the paint brushes this week will be William Lay, another fireman.

Scouts of a certain Mansfield troop are confronted by a problem that is perplexing them. They must have it solved by Sunday, too. The troop plans to assemble at sunrise Sunday to hoist a flag in observance of Mother's day, and all arrangements are set except the time to report. Not taking any chances, a group of the scouts was making inquiries today in an attempt to find out just what time the sun does come up. So far they have been unsuccessful. (Note: The World Almanac says the sun will rise at 5:19 Sunday).

Edward Meder, Davis road, is wondering whether he has any business on a golf course after the experience he had the other day on a neighboring city layout as he started his second year of golf. And Meder's trouble came right on the first tee. He claims it was minutes before he knocked the ball off the tee, and he was only three feet nearer the first green after using up 12 strokes. In addition to the 12 strokes, Meder says he lost a half dozen balls in a lake near the tee, and finally his temper.

PONDER RUBBER UNION'S REPLY

Goodrich Officials Studying 10 to 1 Rejection of Pay Reduction Alternative.

(By Associated Press)

AKRON—B. F. Goodrich company executives pondered today the United Rubber Workers' 10-to-1 rejection of a proposed wage reduction proposed as an alternative to decentralization of the concern's Akron production activities.

Goodrich informed the CIO union that unless wage cuts averaging 12.3 per cent are put into effect approximately 5,000 Akron jobs would be lost through concentration of production elsewhere. The company, one of Akron's "big three" in the rubber industry, normally employs about 9,300 here.

Goodrich local of the U. R. W. A. balloted yesterday on whether to accept the proposed reduction. L. L. Callahan, local president, announced the vote as: Against—2,251, for—210.

"I do not think it could have been any more conclusive, not only to Goodrich but to all the other companies, how the workers feel about the wage question," Callahan said.

Goodrich will be asked "to sit down and negotiate a new contract," Callahan said, predicting the union would obtain "an agreement that is worthwhile."

The wage issue alone had held up agreement on an 18-point contract, the first under negotiation between the union and Goodrich.

BANKER'S HEAD SEES ROOSEVELT PUMP-PRIMING PROGRAM FAIL

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Francis E. Frothingham, president of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, predicted in a speech before the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce today that President Roosevelt's pump priming would fail to attain its broad objective—permanent business recovery.

Addressing the chamber's general session, Forthingham, who is also vice president of Coffin & Burr, Inc., investment bankers of Boston, blamed administration policies for stagnant capital markets and derided as "too fantastic for serious consideration" charges that business was staging a sit-down strike.

He warned that the capital markets for new money must be revived swiftly "if disaster is to be avoided," and said that the return of confidence in the government was the basic need. He suggested six steps to relieve pressure on business:

1. Return the right to change the value of the dollar to congress. The president now has that authority.

2. End further grants of public money.

3. Make labor responsible for contracts it signs and rewrite the National Labor Relations act on terms "equitable to both parties involved."

4. Place the social security system on a pay-as-you-go basis.

5. Repeal the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes.

6. Remove tax exemption privileges from future government bond issues.

Although the New Deal's pump-priming moves in 1934 were credited with aiding business recovery, he said, the turn for the better in business already had begun.

SWOYER TO TALK

Invite Mansfield Pastor to Give Address.

SHELBY — Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, chaplain of McVey post of the American Legion at Mansfield, will be invited to give the principal address at the annual Memorial day celebration here May 30, according to plans completed Wednesday night at the special session of the committee arranging the event.

The services this year will be held at 10:30 a. m. at Oakland cemetery instead of at the high school, as in other years, Gerald Madden, committee member, stated today.

An invitation has been extended the Shelby high school band, several hundred children and the patriotic and franternal organizations in Shelby, to participate in the parade which starts from Seltzer avenue at 10 a. m. and marches to the cemetery for the services, Madden said.

GRAND JURORS CALL IN MORE TAX EMPLOYES

Duffy Considers Summoning Probing Bodies in Other Counties for Inquiries.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Collection of Democratic campaign funds from state workers was reliably reported at a virtual standstill today as a grand jury went into its fourth day of inquiry into charges that classified employes had been solicited.

Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy, predicting the investigation would continue about a month, asserted that it still was "too early" to decide whether to impanel grand juries in other counties to extend the scope of the inquiry. A regular Hamilton county grand jury is questioning state employes at Cincinnati.

Hears 15 Witnesses.

The special Franklin county grand jury heard 15 witnesses yesterday; most of them gasoline tax division employes, as Assistant Atty. Gen. Will P. Stephenson sought to learn the names of additional administration aids designated as collectors. He said about a dozen already had been named in secret testimony.

In the meantime, Francis Durbin of Lima, Allen county Democratic chairman, made public a letter to Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati, terming Sawyer's "sudden reversal" of his attitude toward campaign funds "astonishing."

Durbin said that Sawyer, opposing Gov. Martin L. Davey for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, had asked him to select a man who "looked like a farmer" to solicit postmasters for Roosevelt campaign contributions in 1936.

Sawyer will discuss the situation in a radio broadcast Friday night. Governor Davey in an earlier broadcast asserted that it was customary for state employes to contribute to campaign funds. He denied knowledge of civil service law violations

Eglesberg was elected secretary of the lodge for the eighth consecutive year. The new officers will be installed at the June meeting, to be held Wednesday, June 1.

CARNEGIE MEDAL GOES TO OHIOAN

Willoughby Man Cited for Heroic Rescue of Employer.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — (INS)—The Carnegie hero medal was presented today to James W. Marble, of Willoughby, O., who endangered his life to save that of his employer when the latter was injured by an explosion.

Marble, 32-year-old assistant manager of a gasoline and oil company, saved the life of William A. Johnson, 64, president, Sept. 24, 1936, at Willoughby.

Johnson was dazed and thrown to the ground when fumes from a large gasoline tank, which had been emptied, exploded. Marble raced to Johnson's aid and succeeded in dragging him to an automobile. They were 750 feet from the scene when the other tanks exploded.

Civil Liberty Ought to Be Privilege Extended To All In Equal Degree

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—I wish all of us who are interested in the preservation of civil liberties could get together on one thing, namely, that all men's civil liberties are equally sacred.

The civil liberties of William Randolph Hearst, for an extreme example, are no more safely to be flouted than those of a Communist orator or an organizer for the C. I. O. And I mean all civil liberties, not only the right to speak freely.

Lately, in Tampa, Fla., there was that case of a WPA worker who was fired after a grand jury of which he was foreman brought indictments against some local politicians. The report of the grand jury said: "We find that the gambling element has been able to stretch its tentacles with some degree of success into our state and national politics." He was quickly reinstated, but that was done only to stifle the squawk.

Then the state head of the WPA was called before the succeeding grand jury, which was trying to find out whether this had been a case of intimidation, and he refused to discuss the matter on the authority of a letter from Harry Hopkins.

On that precedent the WPA holds the right to punish any juryman employed by the WPA who brings in an indictment against any favored politician, and need not reinstate him. This particular victim may now be fired again, this time permanently, for the moral effect on others who may feel a temptation to get fresh in the performance of their duty as citizens.

I think this case is as bad as that of Norman Thomas, who was arrested and deported from Jersey City by Frank Hague's policemen. If there is any degree of badness in such things, it is a little worse, because, after all, Frank Hague is local, and, anyway, he has fallen on his face this time. Hague is sure to be licked, but the WPA has been momentarily confirmed in its power to coerce juries.

If a private employer did that and then refused to testify before the succeeding grand jury, he would be thrown into jail for contempt, and it would serve him right.

I think we also have too free use of the income tax returns as a means of harassing individuals. Now, the very fact that a man makes enough money to require a return is likely to be held against him, but it shouldn't be.

The President recently authorized the Senate Lobby Committee to go into the returns of witnesses called in the inquiry into the lobby against the reorganization bill, and I think this is coercion. Men don't like to have their business affairs blabbed.

Another type of abuse which I would like to see recognized as such along with the offenses of Frank Hague, is the coercion and intimidation of men who refuse to go on strike. Constant sneering has almost worn away the individual's right to go to his job without having his ears knocked off with a wagon spoke or half-brick, and his right to work at his job if he can get there alive.

In the excitement and partisanship of the last few years, many of us have come to feel that civil liberties and constitutional rights exist only for those who agree with us. We are always hearing that it is of the utmost importance to respect the liberties and rights of radicals, because they impose the greatest strain on our tolerance.

I agree to that, but with the observation that it is equally important to treat the most extreme reactionary the same way, and for the same reason. If the extremists are protected on both wings, those in the middle need not worry.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The Cinderella business is picking up. For a time Hollywood wouldn't even look at the fabled heroine unless she'd been in a Broadway hit, toured in stock, or at least brought some little theater experience with her to Hollywood.

The old silent film custom of looking behind five-and-dime counters, in restaurant kitchens, in barber shops for potential movie stars was forgotten. People like that—the studios said airily—couldn't talk. You had to have training, and long years of it, to be a talkie actor or actress.

They were forgetting that Garbo once worked in a barber shop, and that Clara Bow was a Brooklyn kid with her picture in a beauty contest. Each, in her way, was a Cinderella, just as later on was Alice White, a studio script clerk.

Last year Lana Turner got a break—just a school kid spotted in a soda fountain by a talent scout. Then Margaret Tallichet, a studio stenog, got a boost from Carole Lombard and a contract. This year came Arleen Whelan, little redhead who as a manicurist held many hands without dreaming that one day she'd be holding Warner Baxter's—as heroine of "Kidnaped."

The latest is Erin Drew, formerly known as Terry Raye.

Erin, 22, petite, blondish, is getting places fast—and she's the epitome of Cinderellas as Hollywood has known them from the first. Yesterday a minor stock player, doing "atmosphere" work on the sets, today she's the one girl in "Sing You Sinners" with Bing Crosby and Fred MacMurray. Tomorrow she's one of two girls opposite Ronald Colman in "If I Were King," the other being Frances Dee. And the day before yesterday—she was a waitress in a Hollywood confectionery, taking orders for ice cream, sodas, hot fudge sundaes, and getting $10.50 a week plus tips, or around $18.

Before that she worked in Chicago—Christmas help in a department store, followed by a steady job in a five-and-ten, or strictly speaking, as Erin does, a "five-to-a-dollar department store." People were always telling her she should be in pictures: "But you know how that is," says she. "Most of them were the 'sugar-daddy type,' just a line. Fact is, I always wanted to be an actress—but coming to Hollywood seemed just a laugh, out of the question."

When she did come to Hollywood, people kept on telling her she should be in pictures, but the only one she took seriously was an agent, who came back with credentials and an offer of a test at Paramount. So the girl who'd dished up scoops of ice cream for George Raft, Melvyn Douglas and other ice cream-eaters went to the studio and began serving time.

It was a big night for her one Tuesday when, according to custom, the stock players of Oliver Hinsdell's "school" put on their regular show for executives and directors of the lot. Erin did a scene from "Golden Boy" with a young stocker named Philip Warren, and Wesley Ruggles ordered a test of her for "Sing You Sinners." Before that picture was finished Frank Lloyd tested her for the Colman film—and here she is, on her way.

She thinks Philip Warren is going to get places too.

PREMIUMS FOR COUNTY WHEAT INSURANCE SET

75 Per Cent Coverage to Cost Farmers 1.2 Bushels or Equivalent in Cash.

Richland county farmers who participate in the federal wheat insurance program in 1939 will pay an average premium rate of 1.2 bushels per acre in wheat or the equivalent in cash, the Ohio Agricultural Conservation committee announced today.

That rate will provide a 75 per cent coverage against loss of wheat in storms, drought or floods, while the rate for a 50 per cent coverage will be .4 bushel per acre.

The Richland county rates are about on a par with those of other sections of the state where the range is from .6 bushel to 2.2 bushels.

Available under the $20,000,000 federal crop insurance program, the policies on wheat will be available this summer on the 1939 acreage which will be seeded next September.

The program would have no effect on the 1938 wheat crop which promises to be one of the best in years in Richland county.

Payments in Wheat.

Payments for any losses to insured farmers would be made in wheat and not in cash. County premium rates are based on the 10-year average production from which the degree of risk in wheat growing is established. The average Richland county yield per acre is 15 bushels.

The insurance plan will be explained to county agents and county soils conservation officials in this section at a district conference May 12 at Coshocton. The program will be handled in the county by a representative to be named by the federal soils conservation committee, County Agent George B. Ganyard said.

Rates for 75 per cent coverage in other northcentral Ohio counties include:

Crawford, Holmes and Huron counties, one bushel each per acre; Ashland, 11 bushels and Knox county, 1.4 bushels

LOAN ON WOOL

Federal Funds for Growers Available at Farm Bureau.

The federal loan plan for wool, enabling growers to pool their supply until prices advance, will be made available immediately to Richland county farmers through the Farm Bureau, Vance Clever, county manager of the co-operative organization, said today.

Under the plan, which provides $50,000,000 for advances on wool stored in warehouses, producers who submit their wool to the farm bureau warehouses in the county will receive an initial advance of 15 cents per pound, but it may range up to 22 cents per pound, bureau officials said.

Designed to prevent flooding of the wool market, the loan plan is expected to "boost wool prices which are now about half of the 1937 figure. The plan is similar to that used for cotton and corn.

Wool may be marketed through the four Farm Bureau warehouses in Richland county or taken directly to the wool warehouse at Columbus, Clever said

CLEARINGS DROP

April Bank Transactions Half Million Under March.

After showing a marked gain in March, bank clearings in Mansfield dropped off last month to $6 108 032 more than a half million dollars under the March figures H A McElhaney secretary of the clearing house association, reported today

The April clearings were $3,900,000 below the total for the same month last year, which was one of the best business months in the city's history

Clearings of the city's four banks for the first four months of this year were $24 439 288, or about $11 000 000 less than the total for the same period in 1937 when Mansfield business was at an eight-year peak

SENDS TWO TO STATE CONTEST

Senior High to be Represented in Solo Competition at Oberlin.

The music department at the Senior high school will be represented by Kathleen MacIntosh soprano and Richard Dort bead drum major of the Senior High band, in the state solo and ensemble contest at Oberlin college Saturday

The two students won the right to compete in the state contest because of their high ratings in the district contest last week at Bowling Green Dort received the first rating of one-plus in drum major competition and Miss MacIntosh received the second rating of two for soprano contestants

J. Merton Holcombe director of the band and choral groups at the school, will accompany the students

HARVESTERS SET RECORD

MELBOURNE—(U P)—A crew of three men, operating an auto-header, which strips wheat grains and bags them in one operation has established a world record here by harvesting 3 000 bushels in one day The wheat tract covered 700 acres with a yield of 43½ bushels to the acre

Chile ranks as the first copper exporting country in the world, and in production of this mineral is second only to the United States.

Winner in the Democratic race for nomination as governor in Alabama, Attorney Frank M Dixon of Birmingham piled up a two-to-one lead over his nearest opponent.

EXPIRES MAY 24

Act Aids Foreign-Born War Vets to Become Citizens.

Foreign-born residents of Mansfield and Richland county who served with the United States army or its allies in the World war can save money and escape involved procedure if they file for citizenship before May 24, Norman P. Henry, Richland county naturalization clerk, pointed out today.

Under a federal act which expires in three weeks, veterans seeking the right to vote may file for citizenship without the usual fee, and without making a declaration of intention or submitting a certificate of arrival

In order to benefit by the exemptions, however, applicants must have an honorable discharge and produce evidence of service with the U S army or navy between April 5, 1917 and Nov. 12, 1918

Petitions are received in Richland county at the county clerk of courts' office on the third floor of the courthouse

Courier to Bring City Invitation To World's Fair

Mansfield through Mayor Claude M Hunter, will receive an official invitation to New York's 1939 World's Fair when a fair courier visits the city next Wednesday, May 11

The courier one of the 49 touring the nation in goodwill cars, will be met on Park avenue west at the city limits and will be accompanied to the city building by a police escort

At city hall the courier will present Mayor Hunter with a key to the fair and add his signature to a scroll of honor Couriers to each state in the nation left New York City Monday carrying the metropolis invitation

Mayor Hunter said the Goodwill car with its model of the perisphere and trylon will be on display in various parts of the city during its one-day stay here.

REPEAT PLAY

Lincoln Heights Pupils Present Operetta Again May 12.

Rip Van Wink presented last week by pupils of the Lincoln Heights elementary school will be repeated at the school Thursday, May 12 David B Lantz principal, announced today
